Reports Declare Italy To Take Part In Anti-piracy Patrol

Powers Asked to State What Mediterranean Zone Duce's Ships to Cover

Russia Agrees To Do Her Share

GENEVA (AP)—Reports in League of Nations circles tonight said Italy had accepted the "principle" of the nine-power plan for an anti-piracy patrol of the Mediterranean.

The note asked "clarification" of the zone which Italy would control, under the plan, and what obligation there would be to extend port facilities to the co-operating powers, including Russia.

A British spokesman, questioned about the report, said he had not seen such a reply, but that it was expected momentarily.

RUSSIA TAKES PART

MOSCOW (CP-Havas)—The Soviet Union today announced its participation in the Nyon accord for suppression of piracy in the Mediterranean.

Authorization was sent by the Kremlin to Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff to sign the agreement. Litvinoff, who participated in the Nyon negotiations, at present is in Geneva.

MANY WARSHIPS READY

LONDON (CP)—By the end of this week, it is proposed, 60 British and French destroyers will be driving pirate submarines out of the Mediterranean.

In Berlin and Rome today, British and French diplomats submitted the Nyon scheme to the German and Italian governments and invited their co-operation.

Italy's attention was drawn specifically to the provision made for her patrolling the Tyrrhenian Sea. It is not contemplated that Germany should participate in the patrol work.

Italian co-operation is desired, but should Italy refuse or impose conditions, then the plan is to go ahead with the Anglo-French patrol, making any necessary modifications later. Swift action against the piracy is regarded here as essential.

Japanese Move Cause Of Concern

Duty Removed From Wood For Pulp; Island Timber Alienated

Fears of wholesale shipments of raw logs from Vancouver Island to the Far East were raised in provincial circles today by the announcement that Japan has removed all duties from wood imported for the manufacture of pulp.

In Vancouver Saturday W. A. Rundle, traffic manager of the Vancouver Board of Trade, said he was advised from Tokyo that the duty will be removed October 1.

Following recent large purchases of timber on the island by Japanese interests the announcement caused deep concern here.

Because of the international aspect of the matter, the government declined any official comment, but it was no secret that they are seriously concerned.

Recently one Japanese concern took over a large timber stand south of Cowichan Lake, and is now shipping logs from there, according to information of the forest branch.

One report, unconfirmed, said Japanese interests had outbid Canadian firms for three blocks of timber in the E. & N. belt this summer.

A Japanese-controlled company a few months ago secured some hundreds of million feet of pulp timber in the Port McNellie area.

CREW SAID TO BE TRAPPED

But No Confirmation That Men Alive in Sunken Submarine Off Spain

MADRID (AP)—The crew of a submarine sunk in the Mediterranean, off Cartagena, last week as a pirate raider, were reported today imprisoned alive at the bottom of the sea.

The Febus (Spanish) news agency carried the unconfirmed reports only as "rumors in the streets" of Cartagena. There was no confirmation from any official source.

The "rumors," Febus said, were that officials had received acoustic telephone messages from the crew trapped when the submarine was sunk by Spanish government gunners.

Spanish military observers based their conviction that the undersea craft had been damaged on the appearance of large amounts of oil on the surface of the water.

NOT CONFIRMED

GIBRALTAR (AP)—British naval authorities have not been able to verify Spanish reports of a sunken submarine off Cartagena, they said today.

At Geneva, as the League of Nations Assembly opened its session, the delegates were reading reports of the sinking submarine.

Reports said Spanish officials had received faint signals rapped out on the hull of the undersea boat. Spanish gunners said they

LINCOLN, Eng. (CP)—A Royal Air Force bomber struck the tops of trees, demolished a row of chimney stacks, tore off part of the roof of a house, smashed a glass veranda and then ploughed into a big flower bed. The pilot suffered a slight cut on the face.

Fires Light Night-sky of Shell-torn Shanghai

A vivid impression of the terrors that grip China's greatest port as Japanese naval and land guns batter the city and China's land and air forces reply is given by the above picture, received in Victoria today. Several fires started by Japanese bombs and shells were sweeping large areas when the photo was taken. In the twilight a destroyer and a few small native craft lay at anchor in the Whangpoo River, which only a few weeks ago was crowded with ships on peaceful missions from all parts of the world.

Canada Can Further Peace By Economic Policy Says Beatty

Freer Movement of Trade and Immigration Urged Before Canadian Club

"The road to trade is the road to peace... Since world peace depends to a great extent on the removal of international frictions, then we must be prepared to play our part in removing economic frictions... Our first duty is so to order the affairs of this country that Canada can contribute increasingly to that better use of the world's natural wealth on which, in the end, the peace of the world must depend."

That was the theme of an address delivered before the Victoria Canadian Club at a luncheon in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel today by Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Declaring "Victoria is one of the windows through which the Dominion and the British Empire look out on the world... It is the very door of Canada on the Pacific and a main point in one of the greatest frontiers in history—the frontier of the British Empire on the great ocean across which lies the most ancient of civilizations, now going through the throes of a period of extraordinary change," Sir Edward went on to speak of the foreign policy of Canada and the British Empire.

He saw hope for continued peace in the fact that during the last few years, in spite of friction which in any other period of history would have led to war, there had been no outbreak on a world scale.

Sir Edward spoke of the abortive efforts headed by Great Britain, for an end of armaments and the insurance of peace by making war impossible, and added that now a reformed Britain was again the actual guarantor of world peace.

Good-will Efforts In Industrial Field Urged By Minister

Tolerance Will Advance Canada, Rogers Tells Labor Congress

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Norman Rogers made a plea today at the opening session of the 53rd annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada for forbearance in industrial relations.

At the same time he said that "unless we are prepared to pay the price of regimentation and loss of freedom, it would seem that industrial peace in the absolute sense is probably a very distant goal."

Welcoming on behalf of the Dominion Government more than 500 delegates who made the convention one of the largest in congress history, the minister urged mutual confidence and goodwill in the conduct of relations between labor and capital.

He reaffirmed the government's stand that "the right of the individual to associate with others for all lawful purposes is a vital element in our inheritance of freedom, ranking with freedom of speech and freedom of the press."

Explosion As Furniture Burns

Vancouver Driver Sees Table Hurlled Into Street By Blast in Store

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fire of unknown origin, accompanied by an explosion which shattered windows and flung furniture into the street, wrecked the main floor of the downtown Dominion furniture store early today. Extent of the damage was not estimated fully.

Frightened by the explosion, residents in a three-floor apartment above the store dashed into the street, some in night attire, as firemen battled to extinguish the fire among pieces of furniture. Practically all stock on the main floor was damaged.

The alarm was turned in by a taxi driver after he had heard the explosion and seen a large display window shattered and a dressing table flung into the street by the force of the blast.

Many Guards At League Session

GENEVA (AP)—In view of the extremely tense international situation developing from the Mediterranean problem, the Chinese-Japanese conflict, the Spanish civil war and other troubles, Switzerland took extraordinary precautions to safeguard the League of Nations Assembly as it started sessions here today.

The greatest police force in League history was assembled to guard the delegates within and without the hall. Plainclothes police as well as private detectives watched over the main figures.

Stock Viewed By Judges At Fair

Horticultural Results Out; Arabians to Be Seen at Horse Show

Fat pigs grunted under a lather of soap and water, dairy cows looked disconsolate as they were hosed in the washing barns and beef cattle flicked their tails in scorn as their hair was curled this morning at the fair.

All the scrubbing and rubbing was in preparation for the long parade of stock past the judges which went on all this morning and afternoon and will continue tomorrow.

Judging also continued in the Main Building and the Women's Building. The vegetables, fruit, and some of the flowers in the Main Building have already been adjudicated though the district exhibits have not been judged yet.

This evening, E. F. Cimiyotti of Mason City, Iowa, will put his string of eight Arabians through their paces at the Horse Show. These beautiful animals are said to be able to do everything but talk.

The Horse Show this year will be on five nights—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Results of the judging at the Main Building saw the Victoria Women's Institute win the vegetable display and the Daughters of England the flower display.

In the individual classes H. Cuthbertson had the best collection of 12 different vegetables while A. Tyrrell was awarded the prize for the best collection of nine vegetables.

In the fruit collections, S. Percival was first in apples; George Fagenberg in pears, and Albert Smith in grapes.

Fred Wiper had the best collection of ferns and Mrs. J. Woods won in the decorated table class.

In the children's class, little Alice Burnfield won for her collection of flowers. Jean Harness was second.

Japan Warship Reported Sunk

Dispatches Say Canton Chinese Planes Sent Down Destroyer

LONDON (CP)—Reuters' news agency dispatches reported late today that Chinese bombing planes from Canton had sunk a Japanese destroyer in Chinese coastal waters.

Chinese fliers have on numerous occasions bombed the Japanese warships on the Whangpoo River at Shanghai and on the Yangtze, near Woosung. Reports at the week-end said a Japanese warship at Shanghai had been damaged, but the Canton report is the first to tell of a warship being sunk.

SHANGHAI (AP)—Under fire from Japanese land and sea batteries, the Chinese army Monday abandoned the Kiangwan salient north of Shanghai and withdrew to the fortified second line defence network of trenches stretching from Shanghai 25 miles to the northwest.

The Chinese retreat was orderly and strategic to prepared positions which they had expected to fall back on as soon as the full force of Japan's mechanized advanced surged against them.

The Japanese followed hard on the heels of the retreating Chinese and quickly occupied the far eastern racecourse and the now completely ruined Kiangwan civic centre. The Chinese had held the area for a full month.

Thrusting hard against the centre of the Chinese first line at Yanghang, the Japanese sent up reinforcements in an effort to turn the withdrawal into a rout. The Chinese held fast, however.

All day Sunday and all Sunday night the battle progressed through Yanghang; not a house in the strategic village 10 miles to the north was left standing. Fires were burning over large areas of Chapei, Hongkew, Yangtzepoo and Kiangwan, threatening the International Settlement itself.

BOMBS HIT WARSHIPS

Chinese airmen raided the Japanese warships in the Whangpoo River and the Japanese airfield in the Yangtzepoo area of the International Settlement. Some of the Japanese craft in the lower Yangtze were hit, Chinese claimed.

Reports from Nanking headquarters said five Japanese ships in the Shanghai area were struck by the raiding bombers.

Japanese claimed to have gained a mile beyond Yanghang, where they were consolidating their new positions, won only at admittedly heavy cost. Both sides reported heavy casualties.

The strategic withdrawal was believed to have placed the Chinese in a strong position to resist further Japanese attacks. The whole Shanghai delta here is criss-crossed with endless canals, swamps, lakes and rivers which are expected to make it extremely difficult for Japanese tanks and heavy artillery to operate.

Moreover, the Japanese as they are drawn further inland will lose the protecting curtain of fire from their warships in the Yangtze and Whangpoo Rivers.

The right flank of the new Chinese line rests on Soochow Creek just opposite the border of the International Settlement.

New Prospectors To Put B.C. Ahead

All Aids Science Can Give
Will Be Used, Convention
Is Told

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. J. F. Walker, Deputy Mines Minister of British Columbia, said here today the old-time prospector had outlived his usefulness in parts of the Pacific Coast province, and that scientific equipment would have to take his place in the discovery of metal deposits.

Dr. Walker was speaking at opening business sessions of the joint convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

He said the fact that new metal discoveries had been made in recent years did not mean opportunities for finding new deposits were less than in the early days of the province.

"It simply means the prospectors who came in great numbers to British Columbia from the United States and then left for other fields have not been succeeded by as large and active a body as has been necessary to maintain a reasonable number of new discoveries in British Columbia," he suggested.

SCENES CHANGE

"Also, it means that the day of the old-time prospector is largely over in certain sections of this province. The old-timer did a good job, and discovered in certain sections practically every outcrop. But the day has come now in parts of British Columbia, as it has in the western United States, when new discoveries will be dependent on the scientific prospector equipped with every aid that capital and scientific development can place at his command."

Dr. Walker said 75 per cent of British Columbia's area was "not unfavorable" to mineral discoveries. He said it did not follow that minerals would be discovered in all that area, but "there is ample opportunity for intelligent exploration."

He said statistics of his department showed the Pacific Coast province had "sufficient variety of mine products to meet changing world conditions and maintain what may be considered a long-time average production of more than $50,000,000 per annum."

B.C. PRODUCTION

While it was too early in the year to make a definite estimate, he said British Columbia's gross mineral production value for 1937 would probably be $70,000,000—an all-time record for the province.

(The previous high mark was reached in 1929 with $66,000,000.) Comparing production this year with that of 1929, Dr. Walker estimated:

Gold production, due to appreciation in price, had forged rapidly ahead to reach a figure comparable with that of copper in 1929—$18,000,000.

Copper, formerly most important mineral, had dropped back in volume and value to about one-third of that figure.

LEAD, ZINC UP

Lead production will probably jump 40 per cent in value over 1929 figures, to $20,000,000.

Production of zinc will jump 50 per cent in volume and value to an all-time record of $13,000,000.

Dr. Walker said British Columbia might shortly become a producer of nickel "in a small way."

If experimental work in Japan on concentrates from the province were successful; and that development would perhaps take place on "some of the deposits of the minerals used in the manufacture of ferro-alloys."

Delegates to the convention, from all parts of Canada and the United States, were welcomed to the city by Mayor G. C. Miller. President R. C. Allen of the A.I.M.M.E. and President Michael Dwyer of the C.I.M.M., replied briefly.

Mr. Dwyer is Nova Scotia's Minister of Public Works and Mines.

on Sunday, the Admiralty announced. Bias Bay, famous as a south China pirate lair, lies 40 miles northeast of Hongkong, British crown colony, and 90 miles from Canton, south China metropolis.

GUNS DESTROYED

The bombardment was followed by the landing of marines, who stormed the Chinese fort at Palyan and destroyed two big guns there, capturing a third.

Simultaneously, Japanese naval aircraft bombed half a dozen points along the Kwantung coast and warships shelled Pinghoi, where a Chinese radio station is located.

In the waters of the south China Sea the Japanese navy is rigidly enforcing the blockade established along the whole of the Chinese coast, bottling all Chinese vessels, down to the smallest fishing junks, in Kwantung and Fukien ports.

CANADA CAN FURTHER PEACE BY ECONOMIC POLICY, SAYS BEATTY

would far surpass in terror anything in the past, was proof that enormous pressures must exist within modern civilization, he said.

One of these pressures was to be found in the clash between two ideals of government, both of which stressed increasing centralization of power in the hands of the administrators of the state. In this centralization the result for the common man of either form of government was much the same.

"Each of these ideals of government, however, has found its appeal in pointing out to the mass of the people that power concentrated in the hands of some individual or small group may be used to make the average man wealthier."

ECONOMIC DISCONTENT

"In so many words, it must be evident that any danger of war which arises from the clash between these two political philosophies has its real roots in economic discontent."

"Certainly, as far as the danger of war lies in actual national rivalries, there can be no doubt that it arises from economic discontent."

In Canada, said Sir Edward, such discontent as existed was entirely internal. There were no Canadians who imagined that their troubles were brought about through the action of any other nation.

But in Europe the case was very different. There were nations whose leaders claimed that if colonies, such, for instance, as those possessed by Britain, were available for their exploitation their economic position would change, and the need to assert military power would cease.

FREE TRADE POLICY

Sir Edward deprecated this argument. "Foreign observers are apt to forget that the most important overseas portions of the British Empire, as in the case of our own Dominion, are self-governing communities whose economic policies are their own creation. . . . Far more important than this, however, is the fact that the Dominions and colonies did not make the British economic system. The great colonial expansion of Britain actually occurred after Britain had adopted her historic system of almost complete free trade. . . .

"Thus it is possible to point out that no nation will duplicate the success of Britain merely by the possession of colonies. The nation which wishes to engage in a great development of trade must be prepared to follow the general policy which made Britain great in commerce. Had Britain been devoted to those theories of extreme economic nationalism which seem to dominate the policies of many countries, the possession of colonies would not in itself have made her what she is."

"I am no doctrinaire advocate of free trade," said Sir Edward. "But I still believe we can only remove economic frictions in the world with an intelligent policy of international co-operation to keep the exchange of goods and services at a high point."

In this Canada could play an important part. "As a British nation on the North American continent our entire economic policy can always be a useful contribution to British and American mutual goodwill."

Sir Edward saw another great contribution which Canada could make—in the field of immigration. "We certainly have this duty to perform. We have no right and should not be permitted to attempt to hold half a continent with a handful of people. We can scarcely expect lasting safety on such a basis."

"When we speak of immigration in this country the first resort is that we now seem to have a surplus of population. Since no one, even among the most fanatic believers in this doctrine, has so far suggested that we should enrich the country by removing the surplus population, I am somewhat doubtful of the sincerity of this statement when I hear it."

"No one with but the slightest knowledge can fail to realize that we can support in this country, in circumstances of at least reasonable comfort, a much larger population than we have now."

"If this be true, the unemployment and the appearance of surplus population can only be the result of our public and private deficiencies."

"This country must play its part in restoring world peace," said Sir Edward. "Even with the most generous international trade policy which we could adopt our greatest contribution to this would be to offer in Canada a place for at least some of the surplus population of other countries.

"In order to do this successfully we must set our own house in order."

Comparing himself to the Roman Cato, who never rose in the senate to speak of any subject, even matters of drainage or the extravagances of the young people of his time, without commencing his speech by saying, "Carthage must be destroyed," Sir Edward included in his address his perpetual plea for unification of Canada's two railway systems. He saw in that action one of the ways in which the Dominion could "set its own house in order."

Sir Edward paid tribute to the Canadian Club as an association which had a great influence on the Dominion's life because it avoided the effects of propaganda and maintained an attitude of reserved judgment.

Sir Edward was introduced by Colonel H. T. Goodland, president of the club, and was thanked by John Cochrane, who was in the chair in 1919 at the first Canadian Club luncheon in Victoria that he addressed after his appointment as president of the C.P.R.

Guests at the luncheon included His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Senator R. F. Green, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, and Hon. George M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education.

Mountain Ledge in Washington

SEATTLE (AP)—Lives and safety of four Seattle youths, marooned on a Cascade Mountain ledge 75 feet above a chasm floor 32 miles east of Enumclaw, depended on their shoestrings today.

The young men, unable to descend unaided, disrobed and tied their clothes together Sunday evening, lowering the "clothes line" toward forest rangers on another ledge 40 feet below. It was 10 feet too short for the rangers to reach it and attach a rope to be drawn up by the youths.

Today the youths were to add their shoestrings to the line and hoped, in this manner, to bring about their rescue.

Should the boat be raised it likely would answer the grave question that has caused the most serious European crisis since the outbreak of the Spanish civil war a year and three months ago. The Spanish government and Moscow, its ardent supporter, have flatly accused Italian warships of waging indiscriminate war on Mediterranean shipping.

Italy has counter-charged the Valencia government is responsible for the series of attacks that brought about the determined British and French campaign to sweep the menace from their "life-line of empire."

SIANFU, Shensi Province, China (AP)—Leaders of China's communist forces, now incorporated in the central government, announced today their troops were already on the march against the Japanese in north China.

Gen. Chu Teh and Gen. Peng Teh-hui, who have fought the Nanking government for years, took the oath of allegiance today and promised the fullest resistance to the Japanese advance.

It is estimated they have at their command from 100,000 to 200,000 troops, seasoned by almost uninterrupted battle for the last five years.

"Our aim is to exterminate the Japanese invaders, recover lost territories, and seek the independence, freedom and welfare of China," the generals said in a joint statement.

at 250,000 Barrels; Ship's Crew Rescued

HALIFAX (CP)—A 40-mile-an-hour gale that swept over Nova Scotia from the south at the week-end left a heavy mark on the province today.

The famous Annapolis Valley apple belt and coastal points bore the brunt of the storm, which also disrupted communication facilities throughout the province and caused damage to smaller buildings. Trees were uprooted by the wind.

The 275-ton Halifax fishing trawler Lemberg ran aground on the "Graveyard of the Atlantic"—Sable Island—at the height of the storm early Sunday morning and the heroic work of the life-saving crew succeeded in taking the 25 men off the vessel.

Apple orchards in the Annapolis Valley were raked by the strong wind accompanied by heavy rain and reliable estimates placed the loss at 250,000 barrels, valued at $625,000. This was estimated at

Life Lost When Plane Destroyed

J. Bilsborrow Killed Near
Port Townsend; Capt. J. A.
Adams Rescued

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash. (AP)—Capt. Joseph A. Adams, United States Marine Corps reserve pilot, who escaped from a burning plane two miles off this port Sunday, described today the tragedy which took the life of his companion, John Bilsborrow, 27, Seattle bank clerk and technical sergeant in the Marine Corps reserve.

Capt. Adams narrowly escaped death by jumping from an altitude of only 500 feet. The plane exploded a second later. A tugboat rescued the officer from Puget Sound within 20 minutes.

Bilsborrow had bailed out on an order from Capt. Adams, but his parachute opened before he was clear of the ship, pulling him through the tail struts and apparently knocking him unconscious.

AT 2,500 FEET

Capt. Adams said the plane suddenly burst into flames as they were cruising at an altitude of 2,500 feet with two other ships on a training flight.

"The whole ship seemed to be on fire," he said. "I shut off the motor and told Bilsborrow to jump. I heard a thump at the tail of the ship, but a moment later saw the parachute descending."

"I turned on the automatic fire extinguisher, while gliding in a circle to come back to the approximate place where Bilsborrow would come down on the water. The fire subsided, but it broke out again, so I climbed out on the wing and jumped. The plane nosed into the water and exploded as it hit the waves."

Bilsborrow's body has not yet been recovered.

Bombs Are Set Off in Theatres

Stench Missiles Injure 11
Persons in Audiences in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Stench bombs exploded simultaneously in a score of upper Manhattan and Bronx motion picture theatres Sunday night, injuring at least 11 persons and causing panics among the audiences.

Police reserves and ambulances were hurried to the theatres as reports of the bombings were received at police headquarters.

Seven persons were burned by a bomb in a theatre at Broadway and 100th Street, and two persons in the audiences of two other theatres were reported injured as the patrons rushed to exits to escape the fumes.

Samuel D. Cocalis, head of the firm which operates the theatres as units of a chain, said, from his Deal N.J., home, that he believed labordifficulties were responsible for the bombings.

Special Session Talk in the U.S.

Suggested Congress May
Met to Strengthen Farm
Programme

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States administration leaders took an ear toward the corn and wheat belts today to learn if official estimates of large crops this year would increase pressure for a special session of Congress to strengthen the farm programme.

Secretary Wallace, who has constantly urged a special session, had declining farm prices would bring this pressure, and officials awaited market reaction to these estimates.

The U.S. Federal Crop Board reduced its forecast for corn, wheat and some other harvests from month ago in its estimates Friday based on September 1 conditions. But it noted that farm production would loom large compared with recent drought years.

The low estimate of the 1937 wheat crop also was near the long-term average, but 50 per cent above the average of the last few years.

Onlybad spots in the nationwide crop survey were parts of the western corn belt and great plains, where searing winds, blistering temperatures and a lack of rainfall caused severe damage August.

ALBERTA COURSES FOR UNEMPLOYED

EDMONTON (CP)—Involving an outlay of $160,000, half of which will be provided by the federal government, projects to provide vocational training for 6,000 unemployed youths, were announced at the week-end by the office of Premier Aberhart as Minister of Education. The projects were finally approved by R. F. Thompson of Ottawa, Dominion director for the scheme, to finance which Dominion Government voted $1,000,000. In Alberta the projects include short courses at the University of Alberta in occupational training, courses in home-making for women and also courses in forestry, conservation and specialized services.

PRESS VIEWS ON NYON PLAN

British Papers Generally
Welcome Result of Antipiracy Talks

LONDON (CP)—The British press generally welcomed the Nyon accord today as promising improvement in the international situation. Representative comments follow:

London News—Chronicle, Liberal:

"The plan in short is a neat diplomatic job, of less than no use unless backed up with energy and resolution."

London Times, Conservative:

"The vigor displayed by the British delegation and the readiness to assist the weaker Mediterranean states are wholly to be praised."

London Daily Herald, Labor:

"The speed of the conference was due partly to the Italians and Germans for their absence and to Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet Foreign Commissar, for confining himself to one speech. More over, France and Great Britain for once were completely in step with each other."

Yorkshire Post, Conservative:

"As to the mode of action, only experience can show how far it may prove effective."

WHAT NEXT?

Manchester Guardian, Liberal:

"Decision was needed, and the Nyon conference has acted with decision, but the root of the matter from the Italian and German standpoint is that Gen. Franco has to win. First German air-planes and Italian divisions, then the unrestricted submarine campaign. If that is stopped, what follows next?"

London Morning Post, Conservative:

"Is it unnatural to fear that in spite of all our wishes and efforts, the policy of non-intervention in the Spanish war is in some danger of being transformed into a very active form of intervention?"

London Daily Telegraph, Conservative:

"We may with justification hope for some improvement in international conditions from the work at Nyon."

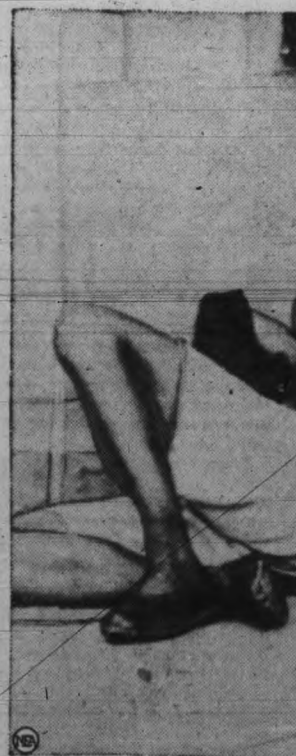

London Daily Express, Independent:

"A vast majority of the vessels carrying contraband for either side in the Spanish war are foreign. Why should Britain be engaged to ensure their safe passage to the coasts of Spain? What possible advantage can this policy bring the British people? It sounds like the height of mid-summer madness after summer has gone. The Dominions will not follow us into it, nor the United States."

Italians Honor Their Men Killed in Spain

ROME (AP)—Italians killed in the Spanish civil war will be honored by Fascism along with Fascist Martyrs of the early years of the regime. Party leaders disclosed Sunday the calendar year XVI of Fascism, to be issued early this week, would order celebrations in Rome and the provinces on October 29 in honor of those fallen in Spain.

A Pause for Rest in Flight From Destruction

With shells and bombs bursting in the streets and troops fighting savagely for vantage points in Shanghai, Chinese civilians found sleep and food increasingly precious items. The scene above is typical of many doorways in the shattered native section. While the line of combat had moved momentarily to another sector, a Chinese family snatches a few minutes of rest, sprawled on the hard pavement, sleeping despite knowledge that the next minute might bring death in any of a dozen explosive forms. Natives fled the city in even greater numbers recently when Japan threatened heavier bombardments on Shanghai due to the stubborn military resistance of the Chinese military.

When Bomb Hit Oil Tank During Raid

The dense, black smoke, above, arising from an American-owned storage tank in the International Settlement at Shanghai, is evidence of the efficiency of some Chinese or Japanese aviator. It was struck during an air raid as the nations fought for control of the city. The flames from which the smoke rises were just behind the wharves, where both merchant and warships were docked.

Business Gains In Canada Reported

Increases in All Important
Fields Recorded Jan. 1-
July 31

OTTAWA (CP)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today reported practically all business factors showed increases during the seven months ended July 31 over the corresponding period in 1936.

Crop failures in sections of the prairie provinces were more than offset by good crops and expanding trade in other areas.

The index of the physical volume of business in the seven months, on the base 1926 equals 100, averaged 121.3, a gain of 12.4 per cent, compared with 107.9 in the same period the previous year.

Volume of mineral production was more than 15 per cent greater than the first seven months of 1936. Nickel exports were up 27 per cent, copper exports 7.5 per cent and zinc 5.2 per cent.

The official index for manufacturing operations, based on 30 factors, was 121.4 in the seven months' period, against 106.4 the year before.

MORE NEWSPRINT SOLD

Output of newspaper was at a new high, amounting to 2,097,312 tons, a gain of 18.9 per cent, compared with 1,763,800 in the first seven months last year.

Primary iron and steel industry was more active. Steel ingot production showed a gain of 29.1 per cent, with 856,145 tons, while the output of pig iron was up more than 34 per cent at 503,680 tons.

The construction industry also showed improvement when the value of contracts awarded was estimated at $131,861,100, or more than a third greater than the seven months the year before.

TRADE FIGURES

Canada's trade crossed the $1,000,000,000 mark in the first seven months and showed an advance of nearly 26 per cent, with a value of $1,078,762,000, compared with $857,140,000 in the same months last year. Exports were up 23 per cent at $925,850,000, against $509,514,000, and imports advanced 3.03 per cent at $452,812,000, compared with $347,626,000.

Revenue freight handled by the railways of Canada was up 8.3 per cent with a total of 1,443,000 cars, against 1,332,000. Gross operating revenues of the Canadian National on Canadian lines showed a gain of 11.5 per cent to $91,139,000 from $81,743,000, while gross operating revenues of the Canadian Pacific Railway were up 7.1 per cent at $78,849,000, against $73,607,000.

Employment was also at a higher level. The index of manufacturing employment averaged 102.9 per cent higher than the preceding year, while the mining industry showed an average gain of 13.7 per cent.

FAIR ATTENDANCE DOWN

TORONTO—Gates of the Canadian National Exhibition were closed Saturday night after one of the most "disappointing" years in some time, according to General Manager Elwood Hughes. The drop in attendance of more than 250,000 persons was attributed by civic officials to the infantile paralysis scare.

WOULD KEEP BARS

CAPETOWN—A royal commission has recommended control of the South African wine industry, but opposes closing of wine bars, saying it would be dangerous for the colored community.

Aberhart Tells Of New Steps

Says People Will Be Surprised; Answers Suggestion of Radio Ban

CALGARY—To those who oppose Premier Aberhart's Sunday broadcasts, made from Edmonton and Calgary, to those who do not wish to listen to him, the Premier here offered a "programme of silence."

"A twist of the wrist" can shut it off," he told his listeners, speaking from the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute Sunday. "Simply turn the dial," he added. "It will shut us off completely."

The Social Credit government, he declared, had a plan and a programme. He forecast "some steps that will surprise you."

"The people are pressing for something more than mud slinging. I hope the people will stay united. You will hear of steps that will surprise you."

He did not indicate what the steps would be, or if they would be taken at the forthcoming special session of the Legislature.

RESOLUTION PASSED

A resolution adopted at a meeting of the People's League of Alberta here last week urged the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to halt the Alberta Premier's Sabbath day broadcasts—the mixing of religion and politics. Yesterday the Premier said in comment:

"It is not our desire or will to offend. Our whole aim in our broadcast is to help and uplift. I am satisfied the majority of the people in this province are not so religiously sanctimonious as to believe that all references to politics on Sunday is sacrilegious."

MENTIONS STEWART

"Since when have the old die-hard politicians become so ultra-religious? Surely politics should not be so corrupt and vile as to have all reference to it on Sunday tabooed. We have rather more to say about economics than politics."

The Canadian Radio Corporation, he told his listeners, had a review of the international political situation broadcast on Sunday by Professor H. T. Stewart of Halifax.

"What about the talk of Professor Stewart, which has nothing but politics on Sunday?" he asked. "What about Sunday news broadcasts?"

Drastic legislation involving banks would be passed at the forthcoming special session of the Alberta Legislature, it was forecast by G. L. MacLachlan, M.P.P., chairman of the Social Credit Board, at a public meeting at Lavo, Alta., last Friday night.

"During the next session," Mr. MacLachlan asserted, "we are going to make it miserable for the banks—so miserable that it will be hard for them to operate in this province."

"Every act that has been passed heretofore," he said, "has been in the interests of the financiers who are hollering louder every day because they are being squeezed and are afraid they are going to lose their prestige and honor."

The operation of cutting a hole in the skull was done by primitive people, sometimes to let out evil spirits that were supposed to cause pain, and in other cases as a religious rite to enable the soul to escape the body and commune with spirit powers.

Varied Topics Before Cabinet

China and Spain Wars' Effects Discussed at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet, which held two sessions last week without any information being given out as to what had been before it, will meet again Tuesday. Apart from the obvious fact that warlike developments in Europe and China will be discussed insofar as they might interest or involve Canada, there have been no intimations of the tasks at present occupying the cabinet ministers.

Some announcements are expected shortly as to further steps to be taken in meeting the relief situation on the prairies, and probably Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, will have some negotiations shortly with the provinces concerning relief in general for the winter months.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, who returned last week from a month in the drought areas, intimated he would have some supplementary relief plans for consideration of cabinet, but no conclusions have been announced.

SS. MOLTON IS AT BORDEAUX

BORDEAUX (AP)—The British freighter Molton, held captive by Spanish insurgents for more than two months, was at Bordeaux today. The vessel arrived Saturday with an uninjured but hungry captain and crew.

Since the ship was taken "under escort" by the insurgent cruiser Almirante Cervera early in July, the captain said, it had been held at Bilbao with three armed soldiers on board.

Sir Edward Disagrees

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY and its allied enterprises constitute such a factor in the welfare of Victoria and this island that the visit here of the president of that great organization is always an occasion. It is especially so when the president happens to be a vital and colorful personality such as Sir Edward Beatty.

We always expect Sir Edward to say something of significance. His outstanding contribution during his present visit, we think, is his declaration of disagreement with any theory that the prairie provinces were unsuited for lasting settlement. This he has made in view of the drought disaster in the southern half of the wheat belt this year—a tragedy coming on top of discouraging crop results during the preceding years in the same area. He has called on Charles Darwin as witness that droughts do not always spell ruin. He has quoted a South American travel book about the hopeless drought conditions a century ago in what is now the Argentine, pointing out that the very area described is now one of the world's most fertile and productive. Other countries, he has recalled, have had similar or worse drought experiences and have completely recovered.

At this moment when we are seeing the dark side of the prairie picture, Sir Edward is doing a national service in emphasizing the longer range view. We need to be reminded that that part of the country some now pessimistically describe as agriculturally impossible, has produced at least $8,000,000,000 in agricultural wealth and developed such centres as Regina and Calgary. In front-paging such facts Sir Edward, as always, is functioning constructively.

Subsidized Prosperity

GERMANY'S NATIONAL SOCIALIST party, reviewing the nation's "magical" recovery from war burdens and depression pitfalls, is crowing with all the bells and hoes that the ferment of such a national ego can produce.

From a distance, Germany seems to have something to crow about. Five years ago, internal troubles and isolation from the outside world threatened complete undoing of the reich. Today, factories are operating overtime, nearly everyone has a job and the Nazi banner carries tidings of reclaimed military and commercial prestige to the seven seas.

Moreover, all this was accomplished through Nazi industry and diligence alone, without foreign aid and in some cases, actually in the face of foreign interference.

Germany, then, would seem to be a good example for other nations which still are struggling with problems of wages, unemployment, budget-balancing and other confusing phases of modern economics. But those other nations—and that includes Canada—had better look closer before they leap.

The reason is discovered in the foundation that underlies this new miracle sky-scraper of German prosperity. In the two years before Adolf Hitler came to power, the state had poured more than 14,000,000,000 marks into jobless doles. Hitler continued this spending and added to it the cost of another artificial boom through a vast rearmament programme.

These policies put men to work but they boosted the public debt to more than 54,000,000,000 marks. They started factories running again but they placed a terrific tax load upon the people.

Behind Nazi boasts of recovery lies the strangling of wages and social welfare benefits and the reduction of employers and employees to the status of "work agents" of the state. In place of the normal law of supply and demand, the government steers economy by decree.

All this points toward a cataclysmic explosion, for in Germany's case at least, subsidized prosperity is an investment that yields no economic return and provides no substantial basis for future building.

Settlement

SIR EDWARD BEATTY, PRESIDENT OF the Canadian Pacific Railway and one of the best informed men in the Dominion of Canada, has made a speech in which he said that in spite of the last few crop years and their results he disagreed with any theory that the prairie provinces were unsuited to any permanent settlement.

Sir Edward is right. Only it will take a great many years to sell that idea to the inhabitants. It is one of the great drawbacks to the Dominion of Canada that there is no peasantry established on the land. As soon as a man makes a few dollars from growing wheat on the prairies he wants to put his son into the church, the law or dentistry and then he goes himself and lives in some semi-tropical resort where life is easy.

What Canada needs is a land-conscious people who will look after the land and make it look after them. You can't mine it and expect it to do everything for you. All we have is the surface of the earth and 24 hours a day to work on it.

Sir Edward knows this and he is striving to make Canada conscious of Canada and her possibilities.

Journalism

THE MODERN CONCEPTION OF Journalism has drifted quite a long way from the older form. It is, therefore, rather refreshing to find that older form renewed and vitalized in no less an organ than the New Statesman of August 14. Indeed, such is the all-embracing and speculative character of the extract that it is worth immortalizing here.

It is short, it covers the subject and it does not indulge in that form of lying that is now so prevalent in the Chinese war-zone and which induces newspaper correspondents to sit in a hotel all day and invent war "news" on which they all agree. Here is this piece of perfect journalism:

"The Japanese have formally marched into Peking and occupied it with a formidable mechanized garrison. While it is still possible that any coming struggle may be localized in the north, it is no longer certain that a general war can be avoided. The Japanese have expelled Chinese residents, mainly students, from Japan, and continue the withdrawal of their own subjects from China. They have now evacuated their concession at Hankow, which at first they meant to defend. An incident at Shanghai, in which a Japanese naval officer and sailor were shot by Chinese sentries while presumably spying on an airdrome in circumstances that are the subject of completely contradictory accounts, may be used to excuse violent reprisals, if the Japanese are so minded. Some 30 Japanese warships are gathered off Wusung at the mouth of the Yangtze as if for a naval demonstration, and marines have been landed. The Japanese are, however, still prepared to test 'Chinese sincerity' by negotiations at Nanking. Chinese armies, meanwhile, are concentrating by the railways that converge on Peking. There has been fighting at Nankou; and official statements by the government seek to prepare the people for a long war, in which there may be reverses during the early months."

What is meant by the Japanese preparedness to "test Chinese sincerity" must remain a mystery. What right they have to such a test is something imagination boggles at. It is to be hoped that Chinese sincerity will concentrate itself on resisting a totally unwarrantable invasion with every pint of blood in China.

Notes

Dumb animals are the ones that do not show their teeth at the sight of a camera.

Bridge players are becoming like old-time theologians. They all accept Culbertson as final authority, but they never agree on what he means.

Virtue males of the man's man school should be able to read a little compassion into their feelings toward Robert Taylor after seeing accounts and news photos of the film star's latest trip to New York. For any man who has to submit to such questions as "Do you think you are beautiful," "What do you think of the physical side of marriage?" and "Do you snore?" from a throng of feminine adorners—that man is paying and paying plenty for whatever compensation he may receive from the eminence of his position.

ASKING FOR MORE MOTOR TRAGEDIES

To the Editor:—I have been staying a few days in the vicinity of Quadra Street and Kings Road, close to where you have a little tots' school.

Are your police looking for a major tragedy, or are they so neglectful that they let cars, trucks and buses race through this school area? I checked up on the signs and found them obliterated on the road and one sign hiding behind a telephone pole. I have positively held my breath two or three times at these little tots waiting and dashing across Quadra Street and have not yet seen any policeman on duty at this point. This would not be tolerated in Vancouver where the strictest watch is kept over children going to school.

Our signs in the middle of the road "School—Remember 15 Miles Per Hour" are most effective, and if they are not the police are there to remedy the matter very effectively. It would be a good thing for your reporter to take a look at these points especially in the morning.

MISS Q. COULSON,
604-535 West Georgia Street, Vancouver.

TESTIMONIAL TO DEAN QUINTON

To the Editor:—With respect to the appeal being made on behalf of Dean Quinton, I should like to remove a false impression that the Dean is retiring on a handsome pension and probably basking in the sunshine of financial prosperity.

As to the latter "I have ma doots," but as to his pension I am credibly informed the annual amount is just about enough to maintain the city taxes and coal bill of a decent family home without a cent more.

No, the Church of England in Canada does not err on the side of generosity to its pastors! Here we have a man who has gone beyond the duties of church work. By associating himself with civic and communal efforts for the general welfare and happiness he has become esteemed as an outstanding public figure and example.

To the cause of that heartsearching problem of world peace, the Dean, in and out of season, has denounced the curse of war, both in pulpit and on public platform.

In latter years his kindly heart has gone out towards our unfortunate brethren—especially the young detained in our provincial jails. He has gone so far as to visit and spend part of his well-earned holiday in his self-sacrificing efforts to bring hope and courage to these young men.

I could say much more. I leave that to others. My main object is to remove wrong impressions and to say that any gifts, however small, are going to a worthy man and his 20 years of noble, self-sacrificing work.

SELF-CONTROL

IN VANCOUVER last week I met one of Canada's leading business men, a tycoon of tycoons, a national figure, and the most interesting thing he told me was this: "You know, at the luncheon to Senator Farris in the Vancouver Hotel I was sitting in the gallery above the head table. I could look right down on everybody at the head table, and, right below me, right below me, you understand, directly below, in perfect range, were no less than five bald heads, all glistening. Well, you know, such an opportunity only occurs once in a lifetime. I had a glass of water in my hand, too, ice water, you know, and I can tell you the temptation was almost overpowering. They were in perfect range, you see, five of them, all glistening directly below me and the ice water in my hand. But I managed not to do anything."

I could see that his magnificent feat of self-control had quite ruined the luncheon for him, that he wished he weren't a national figure and could have some fun now and then. I told you before it is no fun being a tycoon.

DELUSION

SENATOR FARRIS made a fine, uplifting speech, the burden of which was that Canada could only meet its debts and cut its taxes in half by doubling its present population, getting more people to carry the load. This view met with general endorsement from the assembled business leaders of Canada. It is a good idea, but, alas, it won't do either of the things Senator Farris expects.

If we bring in huge numbers of people (as we shall have to do if we are going to hold this empty country in a hungry world) we shall pile up huge new debts to pay for the cost of settling them, for new roads, schools and what not. By the time we get the new people on the tax roll and paying taxes, there will be twice as many taxes to pay.

This is proved by the experience of the United States, which is increasing its population at an enormous rate—and increasing its debt and its taxes still faster. We can't escape the consequences of our debt simply by hiring more people to help us carry it. We shall handle the problem in the good old way by handing it on to our children. They will hand it on to theirs. And so on until some generation gets tired of it all.

CIVIC SOUL

AS I HAVE often said here, I have been one of those who have long suspected that Vancouver is an inferior form of life compared with Victoria. I have often suspected that Vancouver had no immortal soul. Apparently I was wrong. After driving a lot about Vancouver in the last few days I am obliged to wonder whether Vancouver hasn't developed spiritually further than we have.

Stanley Park in these autumn evenings is quite the best thing we have in Canada—the lights of the North Shore twinkling through the trees high up on the black mountains, the steamers coming and going almost in the park itself, and little groves and lily ponds among the big timber glowing vaguely from hidden lights like something out of a fairy story. Yes, and even Mr. McGee's celebrated fountain, a concrete horror by day, turns out at night to be lovelier than the most magnificent display of fireworks. And from the North Shore the skyline of Vancouver through the trees has become a wondrous sight.

Then you come back to Victoria and you find the entrance to our city, our Inner Harbor, ruined by a shabby huddle of ancient shacks all along one side, an industrial reserve where a park should have been (where it is in Vancouver), a growing wilderness of dilapidation encircling the business district, and up on Pandora Avenue the final expression of our civic soul in concrete. I think I am going to stop being snooty about Vancouver.

NEW RACE

YET THERE is a growing sense of modernization and sophistication about Vancouver which appals the rustic mind of Saanich more and more. Vancouver was a town 20 years ago, even 10 years ago. It was inhabited for the most part by people who had spent part of their lives in small places in Ontario or the prairies or who had known Vancouver when it was a village among the stumps. They had a pioneer, outdoor attitude toward life. They were still close to the soil, understood the woods, could handle an axe or cast a fly.

That generation is passing. Vancouver swarms today with thousands, hundreds of thousands of people who have never been in the woods, who know nothing about the outdoors, who have never seen British Columbia and don't intend to. In a life of just 50 years Vancouver has bred a new race and obliterated a much better one.

The young people of Vancouver are growing up not in the outdoors, but in lunch counters (coffee for everyone at 11 a.m. to hold them until lunch time) and beer parlors (three glasses each after the show, instead of the ice cream sodas the kids used to drink in my time). Vancouver's material growth is a marvelous thing, but the change in the inhabitants themselves from a small-town to a big-town people, from a simple, hardy folk to a hurrying, sophisticated, thoroughly Americanized and thoroughly mechanized and regimented race of creatures is far more important.

Victoria is tending that way, because it is the ineluctable direction of our civilization, but we are still essentially different, not merely in size, but in character and outlook. But our young will try to make us the same; try to ape the big city. Probably they will succeed in time.

IMPERIAL VS. CANADIAN VETERANS

To the Editor:—Some erroneous statements have appeared in the local press recently concerning Imperial veterans' matters. An article referring particularly to Col. Dingle of Calgary, president of the Imperial Division of the Canadian Legion, calls for correction. Accordingly, the Victoria and District Council, Canadian Legion, would appreciate your insertion of the following passages of a letter received by this council a few days ago from J. R. Bowler, general secretary, Canadian Legion, which in some measure clarifies the situation. These passages follow:

"There is certainly a great deal of misinformation in the press statement given by Mr. Seed. He is quite wrong as to the position of Colonel Dingle of Calgary. The facts are that in or about 1921 an Imperial organization was formed, under the name 'Imperial Veterans in Canada.' This association obtained a Dominion charter. When the Canadian Legion came into being, in 1925, negotiations were entered into with the Imperial Veterans in Canada with a view to amalgamation, and in 1928 this was brought about, with the result that the Imperial Veterans in Canada, although still retaining their Dominion charter, became the Imperial Division of the Canadian Legion and have carried on in that capacity ever since. At the time of amalgamation and for some years previously Colonel Dingle had been president of the Imperial Veterans in Canada, and has remained their president continuously ever since. He is also the representative of the Imperial Division on the Dominion Council of the Legion."

"As you know, Captain George Kermack of Winnipeg is the man appointed to Dominion headquarters to look after Imperial matters. This came about as a result of an arrangement between the Canadian Legion and the Imperial Veterans in Canada. We have been criticized because the appointment was not made earlier, but we can easily show that we are not to blame for this."

"I think that the Imperial Veterans who are criticizing the Legion are very foolish in so doing. We are their best friend and we are the only people who can help them. They certainly cannot get any where alone, as in due course they will find out. They know nothing of the time and energy we expended in the early days in getting the pre-war Imperials established on the same basis as the Canadian soldier."

"They are entirely ignorant of the fact that the Canadian Legion, and the Legion alone, has successfully protected their rights under the Civil Service Preference year after year. They do not give us credit for the efforts we have made on their behalf at every conference of the British Empire Service League and they will not recognize that any concessions which are obtained are entirely due to our work. They even forget that in so far as the distribution of poppy funds collected as a result of the Canadian Legion poppy campaign is concerned, Imperials are not distinguished in any way from our own people."

"The Imperials have already hurt themselves by their attack on a Canadian minister of the crown. No matter how they may have felt in regard to Major Power's statement, they ought, in their own interests, to have exercised a great deal more discretion than they did in their reply. If they succeed in antagonizing the Canadian government and if they arouse the hostility of the Canadian Legion, as some of them are rapidly doing, their case will be very bad. Thank goodness our own Imperial Division kept its head and is acting very sensibly. Major Power met a delegation of them at the recent Ontario convention at Timmins and good relations were established on both sides. Our own Imperials realize that without our assistance and without the good will of the Canadian government they can get nowhere."

"General Ross's success in prevailing upon the British Legion to send an official out here this coming winter is a real constructive move and may lead to much better things."

C. A. GILL,
Secretary, Victoria and District Council, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.

To the Editor:—We wish to express our deep appreciation to the public for its generous response to the Flower Day held in Victoria, Saturday, September 4.

The sum we derived from the sale of flowers was most gratifying, and our gratitude for the warm interest shown is beyond words.

On behalf of the innocent victims who are made unwilling refugees in war-torn China we thank the public for its help in their hour of need.

A POTENTIAL KEY INDUSTRY

To the Editor:—With reference to your editorial on bentonite in last week's issue I would like to remark that this material is found only in two places in B.C., according to the Dominion Mines Bulletin No. 626.

On request of clients I attempted some years ago to contact the owner of these deposits but failed to get samples to submit to my friends in Europe. To bring any of our minerals to the attention of buyers abroad requires (1) a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the foreign market; (2) the specifications of the material and its particular uses; (3) the particular properties of the B.C. material (it is rarely realized that the same named materials never have exactly the same properties as found elsewhere, in the world. For example, it is only recently that metallurgical mining experts have begun to treat ore differently in accordance to the particular properties of the ore under consideration). (4) The prices that can be paid for each specific quality. (5) The cost of production here and preparation for use abroad and the capital required to finance this.

None of this work has been done for bentonite as yet. However, I would call to your attention a little known (in B.C.) material, diatomite, which has innumerable uses and for which the ground work has been done. I have spent the last nine years and considerable money in locating a B.C. deposit and in finding out the above necessary facts about diatomite, starting with the European knowledge of its uses under the names of Kiesguhr and Tripoli of which Germany had the monopoly up to 1914. In fact, it was the basis of the whole German chemical industry. The uses it can be put to are literally thousands according to its microscopic and chemical structure and analysis.

This industry is of vast importance, as it opens up the opportunity for hundreds of subsidiary industries which would give large employment and is of the nature that the products are shipped abroad so bringing in new money all the time. Again, as the machinery is special it can be made locally thus giving work with each expansion. Diatomite, as well as the subsidiary lines, can be produced here at lower prices than elsewhere and at a profit using B.C. products exclusively.

Behavior Instinct Held As Key To Evolution

NOTTINGHAM, England.

EVOLUTION'S much-disputed riddle, the inheritance of acquired characters, was rejected by the president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, the noted entomologist Prof. Sir Edward B. Poulton, in his address here at the opening of the association's annual meeting.

Earlier advocates of this theory had put forth the idea that instincts are "inherited experience." Against this, Sir Edward set up examples of instinctive behavior that enable certain animal forms to survive only because they avoid a certain experience—the experience of being eaten.

Twig-mimicking caterpillars escape being eaten by birds, so long as they are in their natural surroundings where they are not easily noticed. Against a light background they are quickly seen and snapped up.

Another example cited by Sir Edward was of a certain kind of fly in Africa, which as a larva takes elaborate precautions to fortify itself safely inside a little column of dried mud, from which it eventually emerges as an adult. Both these modes of action, and many others, he indicated, can hardly be considered based on anything that any of their ancestors ever experienced and transmitted to the descendants as "inherited intelligence."

Sir Edward, who first attended a meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of

MOTORISTS PAMPHED AND SELFISH

To the Editor:—Will you permit a mere cyclist, (man near 60, to express his opinion about British Columbia's roads and motorists. I have cycled hundreds of miles both on the island roads and mainland, and contend our roads are grossly lousy. Motorists are a pampered lot and a selfish lot; also a lay lot. If they got out and walked occasionally it would be excellent for their health and avoidpids.

Fewer motorists all more cyclists and will breed finer race of men of endurance.

I also know California, lived there five years, and I support Mr. Inglis. Many of our people who visit the south return prejudiced against their own country, they stir up discontent and over-estimate certain features. I am proud to belong to British Columbia. ALFRED BLAND, Blanshard Street.

Science on the occasion of its Golden Jubilee, in 1881, evoked a considerable part of his address to recollections of notable discussions of evolution at association meetings, going back to such classic personalities of science as Huxley and Lord List.

DOCTORS TEST ASTHMA CURE

New Treatment Seen As Promising Weapon Against Chest Diseases

WASHINGTON—A new and promising weapon against asthma, bronchitis, other chest diseases and sinus trouble is now being tried.

Because of medical ethics, physicians who are using the new treatment—a combination of air conditioning and air medication—refuse to talk about it until they have had time to report their results to medical societies and journals. No names of patients, physicians or institutions can be divulged.

Results indicate that patients are really being cured by the treatment. English physicians who have used it for the past two years have published enthusiastic reports.

The treatment is given by a special apparatus devised by an American chemist, David Fingard, and his uncle, J. J. Duke. The latter was himself an asthma sufferer.

Looking something like a radio cabinet, the apparatus filters, warms and dries the outside air and adds to it a carefully blended mixture of iodine, creosote, carbonic acid, essential oils and other aromatic substances. Glycerine and oil of garlic, the latter long a favorite throat-soothing substance with singers, are in the mixture. Some of these chemicals have a soothing action on tissues and others are known germ-killers.

The great advantage of the method is that it brings the medicines into contact with the tissue of lungs and bronchi and other parts of the breathing apparatus.

Iodine can be easily enough applied to a cut finger or other wound to kill any germ that may have gotten in. Killing germs inside the body is a more difficult matter because it is hard to get the germ-killer on to the affected spot. The nose and throat doctor does this by spraying medicine up the nose and down the throat. But this medicine only stays on the tissues a short time. With the Fingard apparatus the germ-killing and soothing medicines are in contact with the tissues for hours at a time, because the patient inhales them with every breath he draws.

Another advantage is that the treatment is relatively inexpensive and can be given either at home or in hospitals.

Physicians are reluctant to call a treatment a "cure." They and their patients have too often been disappointed by methods that gave great promise in the first few cases treated. English physicians, however, have reported that even patients hopelessly sick with tuberculosis have improved after a few weeks of this treatment. They have gained weight, have normal temperatures, cough less and raise less sputum. It is

Eluding Death in Air Race

As Count Otto Hagenburg flew his stunting plane at the Cleveland National Air Races in a spectacular upside down dive close to the earth, as shown at upper left, he came too low, his rudder dragged the ground, bit in deeply and the plane crashed splinteringly, into the wreckage shown below. The German stunt flier is shown at upper right as he was led away from the crash scene, but not until he had waved a reassuring hand to the crowd to show he was not badly hurt.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

SEPTEMBER 13, 1912

(From the Times Files)

It looks as though the proposed boxing match between Ernie Barrieau, amateur lightweight champion of the Pacific Northwest, and Joe Bayley of Victoria, champion of Canada, will take place on Thanksgiving Day in this city. The difficulties regarding the weight have been smoothed over by concessions from each side, and now there remains only the actual signing of the articles to clinch the match.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Saturday last, when Rev. J. B. Warnicke united in marriage Miss Madge Elmslie Middleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Middleton, Simcoe Street, and Mr. Albert Middleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Middleton, Hillside Avenue.

Reports from Yokohama state Captain Voss is again ready to help the patient recover to the point where he is strong enough to undergo operation, if that is needed. In asthma the treatment does not give immediate relief from the spasms of coughing and breathlessness. But after a few days of breathing the medicated air, these spells become less frequent and finally disappear.

Asthma patients who have recovered are advised to return for treatment if they develop a cold, which might start up their old trouble again. English physicians report that one or two treatments will clear up the cold and prevent any flare-up of the old asthma. This has suggested that the treatment may be effective in fighting colds also, but much more work is required on this angle before the status of the treatment for colds is established.

Among the physicians in England who have reported successful results with the treatment are Dr. D. F. Fraser-Harris, formerly professor of physiology in Dalhousie University, Nova Scotia; Dr. J. Raymond Thornton and Dr. F. St. George Vaughan, medical superintendent of Eversfield Chest Hospital; Dr. A. C. Greene, and Gen. Sir Harold Fawcus, director-general of the British Red Cross Society.

INSULIN CURES MENTAL CASES

Thousands of Dementia Precox Patients Now Recovering

WASHINGTON—Not many months ago the mental disorder known as dementia precox, responsible for a large share of the sick minds of the world, was a hopeless condition.

Now, thanks to researches here and abroad, medicine seems on the verge of curing this ill in a large majority of the cases if they are caught early enough.

Insulin, the gland extract that makes life possible for thousands of persons suffering from diabetes, is the stuff that is rescuing other thousands from the living death of insanity. From Oklahoma State Hospital this week come reports of three more cured hopelessly insane patients and six others on the road to recovery as a result of treatment with insulin. The total number of such cures is well over 1,000 now, and apparently is increasing every month.

The new method of treating the mental disease, dementia precox, was discovered by Dr. Manfred Sakel of Vienna, Austria. It consists in giving large doses of insulin so as to produce a state of shock. In treating diabetes, small doses of insulin are given, and the physician is careful to avoid producing shock or coma, which may end fatally.

A fatal outcome is the chief danger of the insulin shock treatment for mental disease. Physicians and nurses stand by while the patient is undergoing treatment, ready to give sugar at just the right moment to snatch the patient from death and back to sanity. The shock is allowed to continue from one to three hours, depending on the effects produced, and a series of insulin shocks are necessary to achieve the cure of the mental disease.

Why insulin shock restores sanity in some cases is not as yet definitely known. It apparently is more successful in the case of young patients, or patients who have not been mentally ill for

Cougar Slaughter In Province 599

The provincial game commission paid out $20,350 in bounties on cougars, wolves and coyotes last year, according to the annual report just published.

A large slice of this went to reward the slaughter of 599 predatory cougars, most of which were shot on Vancouver Island. Cumberland is shown as the big cougar-hunting district with 140 bounties paid there. Alberni was next with 90, Duncan 72, Nanaimo 49, Victoria 35. As these figures indicate, most of the cougars were shot on Vancouver Island.

It was the largest haul of cougars on record, except for the years 1931 and 1933. Bounty was paid on 837 wolves and 1,950 coyotes, mostly in the northern and interior districts.

BURN CHEAP PEA COAL... LET THE STOKER DO THE WORK

The day you install a Thermal Automatic Coal Stoker you reduce heating costs as much as 50%, and all the work of stoking and hauling ashes is definitely ended. Except to fill the hopper once a day you needn't go near the furnace. Set the room thermostat at the desired temperature and the Thermal Automatic Stoker will keep it constantly at that heat. You will save its cost over and over again because you burn the cheapest pea coal, and as the coal is fed from underneath the fire by the screw conveyor, all the volatile gases are consumed instead of being wasted. ## Business Club Hears Report

Mrs. Pearl Eaton, retiring president of the Vancouver Business and Professional Women's Club, was the speaker at the first dinner-meeting of the local club last evening in the dining-room of David Spencer Ltd. Mrs. Eaton gave an interesting account of the convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held during the summer at Niagara Falls.

Miss Minnie Lawson, president of the Victoria club, was in the chair, and Mrs. A. Farquharson proposed the vote of thanks to the guest speaker.

Miss America Snubs Her Sponsors

Beauty Queen Goes Home and Ignores Contracts

ATLANTIC CITY, N.Y. (AP)—A soft-spoken, blue-eyed school-girl reigned as the number one beauty queen of the United States today—much to the embarrassment of a steel pier-full of city officials and beauty contest sponsors.

And while the officials, frustrated and weary, declared "she can't do this to us," Miss Bette Cooper, 17-year-old Miss Bertrand Island of Hackettstown, N.J., and Miss America of 1937, went right on doing it.

"It" being a complete and wholehearted snubbing of the fruits of her victory: A six-week vaudeville contract, a $400 offer for five days on the steel pier, and a flying trip to Hollywood for a screen test, included.

"No movies, radio or vaudeville for me," she said today. "I'm going to stay in bed and get rid of this cold, and then back to school for me."

A streamlined youngster of 5 feet 6 inches, and 120 well-placed pounds, Miss Cooper is strictly an amateur beauty with no ulterior designs. She skipped away yesterday a few hours after her crowning.

Her father, Le Brun Cooper, a state highway department engineer, summed it up this way: "It was too strenuous for Bette. Her mother and I feel she's too young for all that fuss. And, besides, she has a cold and needs a rest."

Mrs. J. W. Benning, Rockland venue, left recently for Sewickley, Pa., to make a short stay with relatives there.

Mr. J. C. Hocking returned to his home on Toronto Street yesterday afternoon after spending the summer months in Alaska.

Mr. D. Patterson of 218 Simcoe Street has as his guests his sisters Mrs. J. Speed of Winnipeg and Mrs. H. G. Heggie of Moose Jaw, who is accompanied by her daughter, Miss Margaret Heggie.

Of interest to the many friends of the bride-elect, who attended St. Margaret's School, Victoria, is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Lecky of Vancouver of the engagement of their only daughter, Barbara Elizabeth, to Dr. Donald F. Moore, B.Sc., M.D., D.N.B., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Moore of Toronto. October 9 has been chosen as the date of the wedding, which will take place at St. Mary's Church, Kerrisdale.

On Saturday evening at their home Greta Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Loughheed were hosts at a dance in honor of the 21st birthday of their daughter, Doreen. Autumn flowers were used throughout the reception rooms. Supper was served at midnight from a table covered with a hand-made lace cloth and lit by tall peach pink tapers in a silver candelabra flanked by low bowls of deep purple sweet peas. The birthday cake held the place of honor at one end of the table. Among those invited were: Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Heater, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Armistead, Mrs. G. H. Kingham, Mrs. D. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Butt, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Scott, Port Alberni; Misses Jennie M. A meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Vernon Villa will take place tomorrow afternoon, in Vernon Villa, at 3.

Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mrs. Alex McCabe were joint hostesses at a cup and saucer shower held at the home of the latter, 1814 Lullie Street, Oak Bay, recently in honor of Miss Iris Holyoak, a September bride-elect. The gifts were presented to the bride-to-be in a huge peach-colored cup and saucer, ingeniously created by Mrs. C. S. Brown and Mrs. A. McCabe. Peach-colored gladioli were used in decoration of the reception rooms. Court whist was played, the winner being Mrs. L. Gower. The supper table was centred with snapdragons and asters in pastel shades in a silver basket, and bridal wreath gracefully trailed down to the large mirror beneath the basket. Those present were Mesdames C. S. Brown, A. H. Steer, E. Rance, L. Gower, A. McCabe, J. W. Holyoak and J. W. Jones (Royal Oak), and the Misses Eva Orr, Margaret Gower, Iris Holyoak and Sybil Holyoak.

Friends were gathered to see them off when, as Miss Lawrence relates, "all of a sudden we were surrounded by men in uniform." "One of them said to me: 'No, lady, you don't take no snakes on this train. No siree. There ain't no snakes going to travel on our line. Huh.'"

"Then another one said he was a Canadian customs man, and nobody was allowed to bring snakes into Canada. Not if he knew about it, they weren't!" The upshot of it was Miss Lawrence is in Montreal and Eve, probably slightly upset about it all, is still in New York.

Singer's Pet Snake Is Barred

MONTREAL (CP)—While Dorothea Lawrence, concert and radio singer, holidayed today in Montreal her pet snake, a six-foot boa constrictor, languished in a New York theatrical agent's office, a victim of circumstance.

Eve—that's the name of the snake—was all set to come to Montreal with Miss Lawrence yesterday morning.

Friends were gathered to see them off when, as Miss Lawrence relates, "all of a sudden we were surrounded by men in uniform."

"One of them said to me: 'No, lady, you don't take no snakes on this train. No siree. There ain't no snakes going to travel on our line. Huh.'"

"Then another one said he was a Canadian customs man, and nobody was allowed to bring snakes into Canada. Not if he knew about it, they weren't!"

The upshot of it was Miss Lawrence is in Montreal and Eve, probably slightly upset about it all, is still in New York.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

No matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon euphoria is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

On Nuptial Flights to Yuma

If you want to see movie stars, Yuma, Ariz., seems about as good a place to wait as any. Most of them go there to get married. Two latest couples to say "I do" there are blonde Alice Faye and Tony Martin, at left, who concluded the year of being "just good friends" with a nuptial flight to Yuma, and Miriam Hopkins who dances, at right, with Director Anatole Litvak, her new husband.

RECENT WEDDINGS

MCDONALD-EAKINS

A former Victoria girl was the bride at a quiet ceremony performed by Rev. Father Sullivan in the rectory of Our Lady's Church, Vancouver, on Friday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock between Mary Alice (Molly), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grey Eakins, of Vancouver, formerly of Oak Bay, and Mr. Robert Stevenson McDonald, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McDonald of New Westminster.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in pinky-beige satin with the new vertical fullness caught to the front with fine shirtings. Encircling the waist a novel girde of satin-bound ropes, again finely shirred, fell in strands into the folds of the skirt. Elbow-length sleeves were puffed at the shoulder line. Her Pasha turban of malines was trimmed with narrow folds of the satin, and she carried a bouquet of Rubrum lilies and lily of the valley.

Miss Donaldson Carson was the only attendant, wearing a gown of satin in falcine blue, with vertical fullness held by fine tucks. Her hat of wine felt, was wreathed in deeply curled ostrich, held by wide falcine grosgrain ribbon, and matching wine shade gloves were worn. She carried Templar roses, tied with matching ribbons, Mr. Hugh Grant of New Westminster was groomsmen.

A reception followed at Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, where palms, ferns and massed early autumn flowers provided a colorful background for the bridal party. White chrysanthemums and white tapers in silver candelabra graced the table, which was centred with the five-tier wedding cake.

Mrs. Eakins was gowned in bottle green chiffon velvet, in tunic effect, with matching hat and in her corsage bouquet were Claudius Pernet roses. Mrs. McDonald chose silver and blue matelasse for her imported gown, with a large black velvet hat and a corsage bouquet of Tailsman roses.

After a month's automobile tour as far south as Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will reside in New Westminster.

Marshall, 1275 Balmoral Road, and Mr. Kenneth Jefferson Davis, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Davis, which took place quietly Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents in a setting of bronze gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a frock of forest green satin-back crepe, shirred at the waist and shoulders, made with puff sleeves and a V-neck ornamented at one side with an emerald and diamond clip. Her matching hat was trimmed with a smart quill, and she wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Cowper Newbury, the matron of honor, wore a frock of oak-brown silk tulle, accented with gold kid cut-out applique, with a flaring skirt and high-draped cowl-neckline. The high waist was circled with a matching sash, and the short sleeves were softly shirred at the elbows. She wore a matching Cossack turban with a colored feather trim, and a corsage bouquet of gladioli and aspidobuds in shades of gold. Mr. Thomas Stevenson was best man.

A lace cloth covered the supper table, which was arranged with vases of pink rosebuds at each corner and centred with the wedding cake. Mrs. Davis assisted the bride's mother in entertaining the guests.

After a motor trip on the mainland, the couple will make their home at 1010 Queens Avenue. For traveling the bride donned an imported model coat in a bronze-green shade with a circular collar of matching red fox.

WILSON-SPINETO

At a double wedding ceremony on Saturday, September 4, the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spineto, both native daughters of Ladysmith, were united in marriage to Fred Wilson and Thomas Campbell by Rev. B. E. Spurling at St. John's Anglican Church, Ladysmith.

Marie Rosalie Spineto, who became the bride of Fred Wilson, was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Alfred Spineto, and wore a wedding gown of white satin and lace, with a silk net veil caught beneath coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white and peach gladioli and white asters.

FEARLESS CHILD MAY ATTEMPT TOO MUCH—BE CAREFUL

It is such fun to introduce a small child to new and exciting adventures. It is this inability to resist the appeal of the child's excitement which leads a father to lift his small daughter to a high parapet along which she may walk, holding firmly to Daddy's strong hand.

A mother is no more able to resist the temptation to lift the child into a window and hold him firmly while he gazes at the street below, or plunge him in the swimming pool and take pride in his courageous attempts to swim like a small dog. It is all in fun, the child likes it, and the parents like it.

But what can be done with Daddy and Mommy close by, can be even more thrilling when attempted by one's own small, fearless self. No one has bothered to explain that these dangers, that heights can result in frightful falls to unwary little feet, used to walking where a tumble has no disastrous consequences.

To lean on a screen or out of an open window may be safe enough, harnessed by a strong arm, but to attempt to lean out when one's own weak arms are one's only safeguard is to court peril. The falls children take from high windows might in some cases have been avoided had the child every minute of the day been warned against sitting or leaning out of windows, near or far from the ground.

The behavior that is safe some of the time but dangerous some of the time, should never be attempted. The kind of conduct which is safe all the time is the kind that should be taught small children. They learn by our example far more than what we say to them and if we show them how to walk in high places, we cannot expect that next day our frenzied yells to "Stay off of the fence" are going to have, at most, but a temporary influence over them.

If you don't want the child to experiment with exciting activity which may prove dangerous when attempted alone, don't introduce him to it in the first place.

MILK... pure milk... is necessary to health. Yet carelessly handled, milk in the raw state may easily carry disease germs harmful to health.

Although proper inspection reduces the hazard, health authorities of Europe and America have proven that unless milk is thoroughly PASTEURIZED, accidents can occur. Pasteurization destroys practically all bacteria inimical to the human system.

Palm Dairies Limited of Victoria safeguard milk in one of North America's most up-to-date and sanitary pasteurizing plants. Even after pasteurization, Palm milk must pass the supervision of a well-known British Columbia bacteriologist. Nothing is left to chance—Palm employees, too, are required to pass a strict medical test.

FERRY CREWS GET MORE PAY

Black Ball Line Wages Totals Will Be Increased Considerably

Olympia, Wash. (AP)—A nine-hour day, salary increases in the lower brackets, and determination of a minimum call for a half shift were among major awards handed down by the Washington State Department of Public Service Saturday after months of investigation. Fred J. Schaaf, director of the department, announced.

Other sections of the award gave employees and their families free transportation rights, excepting cars.

Purses, asking for an increase of $15 per month, were denied the increase when investigation revealed they had been granted an increase last April.

The new award bill will increase Black Ball Line wage totals by some $7,000 to $8,000, Schaaf said. The Governor's proposal, which speeded resumption of service in June, had already increased operating expenses by some $170,000, he added.

Discussion on just what constituted a nine-hour day, Schaaf said, was most difficult to solve, since some of the lines are so scheduled that the complete run takes either more than the nine hours or slightly less. In these instances the award "suggested" that employees and employers join in a conference and devise some means to allow for the difficult runs.

Call for duty for less than four hours is constituted by the award to be payable at half-shift pay. The department suggested that these calls for half-shift be not made to the same employees continuously. Call for more than four hours' work was to be termed a full shift (nine hours).

Under Shellfire on Run Down Whangpoo

Here is the Dollar Line tender in which thousands of American refugees have been transported from Shanghai to United States liners, waiting at Woosung, en route to safety at Manila. It was aboard this tender that passengers who reached Victoria last week aboard Ss. President Jefferson went down the 14 miles of Whangpoo under blazing gunfire. Passengers due here Wednesday aboard Ss. President McKinley also travelled on the Dollar.

Jefferson's Crew Want War Bonuses

American Mail Liner May Not Get Away For Orient Today

SEATTLE—Three unions and the operators of the liner President Jefferson still were deadlocked today shortly before sailing time on the crew's demands for $100 per man war bonus in case the steamship enters Chinese waters during the Japanese-Chinese hostilities. There are 180 men in the crew.

John Cormode, vice-president of the American Mail Line, said the company is refusing to guarantee the bonus because the only Chinese port on the Jefferson's schedule is Hongkong, which he said is outside the war zone, and that she is to sail from Kobe to Hongkong by skirting around Formosa to stay clear of warships.

The unions Saturday turned down the company's alternative offer to attach a rider to shipping articles offering to help the men obtain a war bonus from the government. Such a rider recently was accepted by the crews of the President Wilson and President Hayes, which sailed from San Francisco, Cormode said.

SAN PEDRO—Leaving 20 of its 29 crew members ashore, the Norwegian tanker John Knudsen put out yesterday for Yokohama with a full cargo of fuel-oil.

The 20 seamen refused to sail because of the war in the Orient and asked, instead of bonuses, that they be paid off here. This the owner declined to do, on the technicality that war has not yet been declared.

The John Knudsen sailed with only nine crew members and eight officers.

SAN FRANCISCO—The N.Y.K. announced today latest advice were that its crack trans-Pacific liner Asama Maru was still hard aground in Hongkong harbor and until the last cable, had resisted all attempts of tugs to get her into deep water.

The Asama Maru, like the Italian liner Conti Verdi, were playthings of the typhoon that recently swept the China coast, causing particularly heavy damage in the British colony.

The N.Y.K. service has been disrupted and the Taiyo Maru has been placed on the Asama's run between the Orient and California, via the Hawaiian Islands.

V—BLACKFELLOW DANCES
Before settlers from Europe went to Australia, the people there were savages. Even to this day, the interior of Australia contains savage tribes which keep their old customs.

A Blackfellow being painted for a dance.

Australian natives are often called "Blackfellows." They are fairly strong, but their muscles are not so good as those of many other tribesmen. Their skins are very dark, almost black, in color. It seems that they are related to the negroes, but their hair is long and wavy, not kinky. The men have beards.

Australia is the chief home of the kangaroo, and this animal plays a big part in the life of the natives. Its hide is used for clothing, and its flesh supplies the meat for many a feast.

One of the natives' dances is copied after the movements of the hopping, bounding animals. The "kangaroo dance" is performed by as many as 90 men.

Crouching like kangaroos, the dancers move about, one following another. They strike their hands upon the ground, sing and shriek. From moment to moment they bound into the air, and land close beside the flames of a fire—so close that we might think they were going to be burned. In their leaps, they may spring five feet from the ground, but that is only half as high as a kangaroo can jump.

Another important dance of the Blackfellows is held in honor of the "emu," an ostrich-like bird of Australia. Next to the true ostrich, the emu is the largest of all living birds. The full-grown bird is about six feet tall.

Emus are of great value to the natives, who eat their beef-like flesh, also their eggs. A female lays about 40 eggs in a season.

The Blackfellow dances start soon after the coming of darkness, and are kept up until dawn. The music is supplied by a kind of trumpet, formed of wood, which gives a "toot-toot" sound. There is also the clacking of boomerangs, and women clap their hands as they stand by and watch.

The faces of the dancers are smeared with colors, especially with white, yellow and red.

Dorothy Dix

Avoid Them in Picking Mate

A YOUNG WOMAN ASKS: If you were a girl picking out a husband, what particular characteristics would you look for in him? Well, first of all, I should make a general survey of his personality and background. I would never marry a man, not even if he were Prince Charming himself, who was temperamental and who had to be handled with gloves. Nor would I marry a high-tempered man nor a jealous man who would keep me walking on eggs and holding my breath lest I do something unwittingly that would bring on an explosion.

Nor would I marry a weak-kneed, flabby drunkard who would expect me to bolster him up; nor a lazy, ne'er-do-well who depended on marriage being a sort of galvanic battery that would shock him into action. Also on my taboo list of those with whom I would not march to the altar would be the rich playboy who had never done a day's work in his life nor earned a dollar; the only son whose mamma has raised him a pet and waited on him hand and foot all of his life and who would expect his wife to pinch-hit for Mother.

All these would be out. That would leave just the common or garden variety of men and the things that I should ask of them would be just the common or garden variety of virtues. I should demand of my husband no movie hero looks, no scintillating brilliance, no breath-taking achievements, but only that he be livable.

So I should begin by looking a wary eye on his disposition. That is what counts most in a husband because it is the thing that his wife has to live with, day in and day out. It is what makes or mars her happiness, and it doesn't make a particle of difference to her how moral and upright he is if he is about as pleasant to have around the house as a sore-headed bear. She is miserable.

There are thousands of women married to grouchy saints who would swap them off any day for a cheerful sinner. It does not feed the starving heart of the wife, whose husband never shows her the slightest affection or tenderness, to know that he is faithful to her. Nor is it any comfort to have a domestic husband who never stirs from his own fireside of an evening if he puts in the time nagging and finding fault with everything she has done or left undone.

I should try to find out everything I could about my prospective husband's disposition before I united myself with it for better or worse, for the star virtue of a husband is being easy to get along with. His value is above rubies. I should pick out a cheerful man, an easy-going chap, one who liked to joke and whose laugh was hung on a hair-trigger, one who would be a ray of sunshine around the house and at whose coming home of an evening everything would brighten up as if all the electric lights had been flashed on.

Then I would pick out a sturdy oak instead of a broken reed to cling to. A woman needs something she can lean on, not something she has to prop up, and so I would not marry any man who had not shown that he had the intelligence, the grit and industry to make a living. Money won't make a happy marriage, but the lack of enough of it to get the decent comforts of life can make a miserable one.

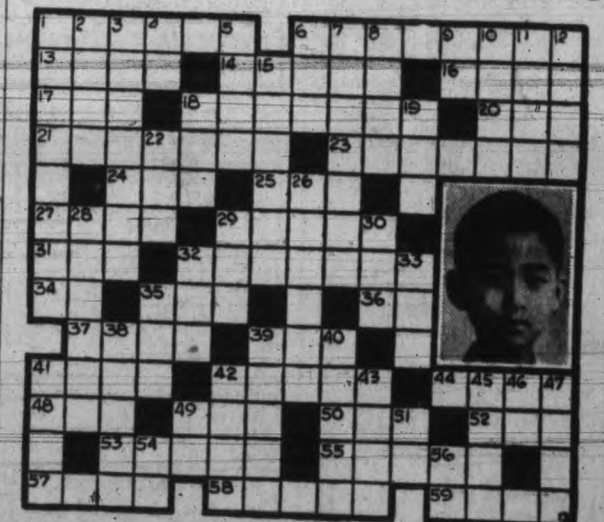

I shouldn't look for a rich man. I would rather marry a boy who is making $100 a month at a steady job and who has shown that he is on the up and up than the son of a millionaire who has never done anything but work his father. No couple has a greater chance of happiness than the poor boy and girl who marry and climb the ladder of success together. No marriage is more foredoomed to failure than that in which the husband sits down and folds his hands in idleness and lets Mary do it.

Then I should look for a man who was a good sport for a husband. One who could take matrimony on the chin. One who would not welch on his bargain. One who would consider it just as dishonorable to lie to his wife as he would to another man. A man who wouldn't turn yellow and throw up his hands and quit as soon as marriage ceased to be a romance and settled down into a chore.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. Should one call attention to a person's peculiarities by giving a nickname such as "Slim" or "Fatty"?
2. Should one comment on another's loss or gain in weight when it is not in that person's favor?
3. If a good friend has bought a new hat which is not becoming in good manners to tell her so?
4. If one has been asked to express a frank opinion while on a shopping tour is it all right to do so?
5. Is it tactful to say, "I've always liked that dress on you"? What would you do if—

Someone compliments you on how nice you look in an old garment—

(a) "Oh, it's such an old thing?"

(b) "Thank you. It's nice of you to say so?"

(c) I am so glad you like it?"

ANSWERS

1. No.
2. No.
3. No.
4. Yes.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1937

Astrologers read this as a promising day. It is a time for launching new ventures in business and for trying experiments of many kinds.

Under this planetary government, the public mind should be cleared of many false ideas, so that wise decisions regarding national issues may be reached.

It is an auspicious way for receiving important visitors in councils of state. Foreign envoys will present extraordinary overtures.

The stars today encourage sane friendships between men and women. It is a lucky rule under which to meet strangers. Grave domestic problems now will present difficulties in France, Germany and Italy if the stars are rightly read. Italian women who mourn for sons and husbands killed in Ethiopia or Spain will cause anxiety in Rome, it is prophesied.

The stars today favor education. Schools and colleges will welcome immense armies of students. Science is to be strongly stressed in curricula.

Persons whose birthday it is have the surgery of a year of activity that is fortunate. Losses through speculation are indicated for a few.

Children born on this day should be exceedingly clever and successful. Subjects of this sign usually have plenty of self-reliance.

Alexander von Humboldt, German scientist, was born on this day, 1795. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Charles Dana Gibson, artist, 1877, and Will Irwin, writer, 1872.

VISITOR LANDS LARGE SPRING

Visiting rod artists are beginning to make local members of the angling fraternity look like greenhorns when it comes to catching the really big ones at Brentwood. Last year a lady from Honolulu ran off with the laurels, and present indications are that the 1937 fishing crown will be shipped back to eastern Canada.

John F. Taylor, of Hull, Quebec, was the lucky angler who reeled in the 43½-pound beauty that placed him at the top of the local fish ladder. Early Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Charlie Benfield, Victoria, and Harry Reddin, Vancouver, Taylor struck into the big spring salmon in the vicinity of McCurdy's Point. For 50 minutes, a grand battle between angler and fish raged before the fishermen finally brought the fish within gaffing range. During the struggle the salmon took out 200 more feet of the wire line on top of the 600 feet that was out at the time of the strike. He was using a Mahatma Gandhi spoon.

Bev Gilson, secretary of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, presented Taylor with the gold button, awarded for catch of that size to a member. Saturday night at the Empress Hotel. Should this be the biggest fish of the year a diamond will be placed in the eye of the salmon etched on the button—symbol of the championship.

Taylor intends to mount the fish and ship it back home. He was a delegate to the recent Chamber of Commerce Convention in Vancouver and came to the city with a number of other delegates for a short stay.

Giants Cling To Narrow Lead Over Cubs

Sports Mirror

By ART STOTT

You can look for a couple of senior boxla teams from Victoria operating in a Vancouver Island league next year, Harry Sargison, secretary of the local outfit and one of the prime movers in this year's successful revival of the game, reports.

With the season over, Sargison and the other old-timers who made Victoria a challenger in championship play, look back over activity that exceeded their fondest hopes. They started the year with a three-team league and finished it with an even dozen teams playing. At the end of the schedule they sent a senior team against Nanaimo that surprised the experts. And when play starts again, they hope to have a pair of senior outfits operating to the credit of the city.

"What we really need now, to put the game over big," says Harry, "is an indoor playing surface and two or three more outdoor boxes for the youngsters to use for practice."

He has some confidence in reports from other sources that the former may be available next year.

It will be another two or three years before Victoria is ready to break into competition with Lower Mainland teams, Sargison figures. And when that time comes, it may be necessary to import stars.

He sees the nucleus of a good team in the present crop of youngsters who have taken to the game like ducks to water, and figures with a few big-time players the city could match the boys across the gulf.

A lot of the credit for the success of this year's revival goes to the experienced men who handled the league. All old lacrosse players, they knew exactly what they were dealing with and showed a willingness to creep before they ran. The old guard is expected to remain in control again next year, and the cultivation that has gone into this year's crop should result in a more improved harvest in 1938.

This season was a definite break for the men in charge. They have shown a high standard of patience and persistence in overcoming disappointments of other seasons to launch the sport definitely on the comeback trail.

Les Fox, who makes a study of the matter, reports that: Horsemen racing their thoroughbreds at the Willows these next two weeks are going to get a better break on the money end of it, providing an arrangement announced by the racing association works out satisfactorily. For the last few seasons the owners have been taking small change for run-

Clubs Each Split Doubleheaders To Retain Standings

Yanks Continue to Drop Games But Still Appear in American League

The National League pennant picture is as clear as a cup of coffee in Hank's Hash-house.

One week, the Cubs are going strong and the Giants look no better than place, the next week, the Cubs fall apart and the Giants look like a sure thing, straight from the feedbox.

Then both get hot—and now anything can happen.

The pennant races went into their final and deciding three weeks today, and, although the giants are a game and a half in front, the thing is no nearer being decided than it was last April. Here's the way the top three teams shape up:

Team W. L. To Play

Giants 79 51 24

Cubs 79 54 21

Pirates 71 62 21

Over in the American League, meantime, the Yankees, despite their hitting slump, look as certain as death and taxes, sporting a ten-game lead with no one doing much about overtaking them.

They are enjoying this layout:

Team W. L. To Play

Yankees 88 43 23

Tigers 79 54 21

White Sox 76 59 19

The picture changed little yesterday as the Giants and Cubs each split, although the Yanks lost a half game of their lead by gaining only an even break with the Senators, while the Tigers were taking the White Sox apart, 4 to 0, behind Tommy Bridges' three-hit hurling in a single game.

GIANTS BEAT FETTE

The Giants had the unpleasant prospect of tangling with the Bees' two "old man" rookie sensations, but they got by Lou Fette, 3 to 1, in the opener. Jim Turner then set them down 5 to 4, handing them their third setback in their last nine starts.

The comebacking Cubs' pitchers turned in a pair of fair-weather jobs in breaking even with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Larry French tossed a four-hit shutout for a 5 to 0 decision in the opener and then Bill Lee dropped a 4 to 2 affair in the nightcap, although his pitching was good enough to take a lot of ball games.

By far the best elbowing of the day was turned loose (believe it or not) at Yankee Stadium. Young Ken Chase, with a seven-hitter, hooked up with Red Ruffing, with a five-hitter, in the opener, and Ken won 2 to 1. Lefty Gomez fanned eight and allowed just five safeties to take

Budge Will Stay Amateur One Year

California Redhead to Continue to Make Money For Amateur Leaders

NEW YORK—The long tennis war has ended: Donald Budge has the United States tennis championship he needed in his business, and now there's nothing to do but worry for the next 12 months or so.

The worrying will be about evenly divided between Budge and officials of the United States Law Tennis Association, who put a pile of money in the treasury the past 10 days because Budge was playing in their show.

When Budge beat Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany Saturday to take the singles crown, 6-1, 7-9, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1, adding the United States championship to his "world" title won at Wimbledon, he parlayed himself into a large sum of currency.

He could, by turning professional, assure himself something like $100,000.

But he has promised the tennis fathers he won't touch a cent of

Newark Takes Ball Honors

NEW YORK—Featured by one of the most amazing collection of athletes in its history, the championship Newark Bears, the International League wound up its 54th season yesterday.

Concluding the campaign with a double header victory over Baltimore Orioles, the Bears completed the season with 109 victories and 43 defeats for a .717 average and a lead of 26½ games over their nearest rivals.

UPLANDS IN GOLF SWEEP

Team Scores One-sided Victory Over Macaulay in Return Interclub Match

Uplands golfers made a clean sweep of football play and took all but one match in the singles yesterday to score a one-sided victory over Macaulay players in the return annual match at Uplands.

The results, with the Macaulay players first mentioned, follow:

Place Well In Alberta Open

Two former local caddies, Pat Fletcher and Walter Spaven of Oak Bay and Colwood respectively, finished third and fifth in the recent Alberta open golf championship, which was won by Stan Leonard. Leonard won with a 72-hole card of 291, four strokes ahead of Benny Colk.

it for another year. They are counting on him to help defend the newly-won Davis Cup next summer, and to draw those bumper crowds at the championships again. And that's where the worrying comes in.

GAMBLE FOR BUDGE

Budge is gambling his fortune that he can play another year of amateur tennis without being beaten and without being seriously injured.

But there is a young man named Bobby Riggs coming up, also from California. He will be in there really gunning for Budge next year.

But aside from all this the tournament was the most successful of any from a financial viewpoint, and it produced a couple of worthy champions.

Anita Lizana, the spirited little half-pint from Chile, proved as great a standout in the women's division as Budge did in the men's. Underrated throughout the play, the Senorita showed a brilliant all-around game in smothering Jadwiga Jedzejowska, the Pole, 6-4, 6-2.

Crowds Watch Opening of Race Meet at Willows

Eager eyes of punters were glued on the track as The Times cameraman caught the bunched field sweeping up the stretch in one of the closer races on Saturday's opening day at the Willows. The meet will continue here for two weeks.

Steele To Rest After Victory

Middleweight Champ Breaks Down After Kaying Ken Overlin in Fourth

SEATTLE—If any more middleweights have a hankering to take the world's championship from Freddie Steele of Tacoma, Wash., they will have to wait awhile.

Steele, after knocking off Ken Overlin of Washington, D.C., in four rounds here Saturday, decided immediately to take a long rest. He was all broken up over the recent death of his manager, Dave Miller.

"I don't want to fight any sooner than I have to," he said. After firing two crushing left hooks in quick succession to finish Overlin in the fourth, Steele broke down before the near-capacity crowd of close to 9,000 fans and sobbed openly.

"The boss didn't see it, the boss didn't see it," the champion today was glad the long drawn-out "jinx" battle was over and was making preparations to go east for the world series. The scheduled 15-round bout has been on the fire since last May, having been postponed twice. The first time Overlin was stricken with yellow jaundice and then came Miller's death.

CHALLENGER CARELESS

The challenger also was upset. He lamented the fact he became "careless" and he dashed away from the civic auditorium in disgust.

"There is one fighter I know I can lick and that man is Freddie Steele," said Overlin. "And if I have to beat every middleweight in the country to get another chance at the title, that's what I'll do."

Overlin fought a foxy fight during the first three rounds, breaking even in the first round and winning the second and third with his tricky style. He got Steele off guard time and again with his dancing manoeuvres.

Steele missed many a mighty blow but when he finally landed the two wicked lefts after 10 seconds of the fourth round, Overlin collapsed on his face and had to be carried to his corner.

Set Dates For Hockey Openers

TACOMA—Opening dates for the Pacific Northern Hockey League were announced here today after a meeting of league officials yesterday.

The openers: November 7 in Spokane; November 8 in Vancouver; November 10 in Seattle and November 11 in Portland.

Federick W. Taylor, Vancouver, B.C., who was in charge of the meeting, said hopes of Tacoma having a team in the league are still running high. He said something definite may be known within a few days.

U.S. Cracks Down On Olympic Hockey

Executive Committee Recommends Country Stay Out of Competition

NEW YORK—The executive committee of the Olympic Association, the body that ran the 1936 Olympic representation of the United States, closed its term as a governing body by taking action against many of the abuses and misunderstandings that arose in the 1936 games.

The committee recommended the United States stay out of the Olympic hockey competition hereafter until the rules were altered to permit only strictly amateur competition.

Great Britain won the last hockey championship with a team

SAILORS WIN BOXLA MATCH

In a free-scoring boxla exhibition game played recently at the Naval Barracks, the Navy squad defeated the Owl Drug, 20 to 19. Eddie De Costa and McNerney led the winners with six goals each, while Doug Bray topped the Owl Drug's scoring with a like number.

MONTREAL MEN ARE WINNERS

J. L. Carson Reels in Largest Salmon in Chamber of Commerce Derby

Delegates to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention were loud in their praise of the fishing at Saanich Arm after a competition yesterday afternoon in which J. L. Carson, manager of the Montreal branch of the Bank of Toronto reeled in a 23½-pound salmon and won a silver cup donated by The Colonist.

Of the 20 delegates who started from Brentwood shortly after lunch, 12 returned with fish at 6.30. K. J. McCardell, managing editor of the Canadian Business, brought in the second largest salmon, which weighed 12½ pounds; and another Montreal man, J. H. Birks, vice-president of Henry Birks and Son, was third with a 9½-pound fish.

T. E. Watkins, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented Mr. Carson with his cup after the salmon had been weighed. Mr. Carson stated that in the course of many years of visiting in all parts of Canada he had not fished among such glorious surroundings and under such ideal conditions as prevailed at Saanich Arm.

He expressed the thanks of the delegates to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, which arranged the competition.

Seek Record For Duncan Hurdler

SOMMERVILLE EASY VICTOR

JASPER PARK LODGE—Sandy Sommerville, holder of the Canadian amateur golf championship, added the Jasper Park Lodge Totem Pole title to his long list of victories here Saturday afternoon when he defeated Roy Scythies of Montreal, 9 and 7 in a 36-hole final.

Don McDalruid, Victoria, won the third flight honors, and Mrs. R. C. Field, Victoria, the women's handicap against par.

HOPKINS IS MAT VICTOR

Scoring those little co-operative moves the big men of the game employ to aid one another in adjusting seemingly painful holds, those two battled-scarred local rivals, Johnny Pears and Reg Hopkins, sailed into each other tooth and nail when they tangled in the main go on Saturday night's mat show at the Tillam gym.

According to the scars Pears is wearing today on his face and body, his rival was really trying to give him a thorough going over. Hopkins emerged the victor by the odd-fall route. It was a good battle, with both straying from the orthodox path occasionally to administer a bit of the bad-man stuff. Referee Barney Lane came in for a share of fighting also in trying to curb the unruly Hopkins.

Falls with the use of flying step-over toe-holds on two occasions gave George Lowe victory over Bill Steen in the semi-main tussle on the all-local card, while Bing Quon and Vic "Legs" Hay grunted to a no-fall draw. No fall draws were the verdicts for the two preliminary, which brought together Young Doc Sarpolis and Jim Casey; Pat Morris and Jack Frost.

WINS PENNANT

COLUMBUS, O. — Columbus Red Birds won the American Association pennant yesterday in one of the most closely-fought stretch drives in the 36-year-old history of the league, and immediately turned their thoughts to the four-team playoff that will determine the association entrant in the little world series.

Jack Harrison, Vancouver's flying cop, carried off the 220-yard event, hitting the tape five yards ahead of Martin Naylor of Powell River, B.C. His time was 22.5.

In the 440 Jack Fraser of Vancouver beat Jack Orr, entered from Vancouver, in a time of 50.4-10.

F. M. Loeffler of Victoria placed third in the six-mile grind.

Yvonne Dingley Credited With Beating Canadian Mark

VANCOUVER—Ann Clark, president of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada, said last night her organization would attempt to obtain recognition as a new Dominion record of the 132.10-second time made Saturday by Yvonne Dingley, Duncan, in the women's 90 yards hurdles.

The Koksilah sprint star was clocked at 132.10 seconds when she ran the event in the far western zone trial of the British Empire Games' Association of Canada.

Two new British Columbia women's track records were made and a third equalled as athletes from Alberta and British Columbia vied for berths on the Canadian team to the Empire Games in Sydney, N.S.W., next February.

The new B.C. marks were set by two young ladies from Calgary, Thelma Norris and Fay Peacock, while Barbara Howard, Vancouver, equalled her own record of 112.10 seconds for the century.

Fay Peacock threw the javelin 101 feet 3½ inches to set a new B.C. record in that event, while Thelma Norris broad jumped 17 feet 1 inch for another new provincial mark.

Other smart performances at the meet featured Pat Haley and brother Joe Haley from Trail in the 100 yards and the high jumps respectively. Pat's time was 9.8-10 seconds and Joe's height was 6 feet 1 inch.

Bill Dale from Victoria in the half mile and Chuck Cunningham, also from Victoria, in the mile. Dale was clocked in 1 minute 56.8-10 seconds for his event, while Cunningham turned in 4 minutes 33.4-5 seconds.

Robert Armit of Lethbridge in the six-mile run. Armit, who led every one of the 24 laps and finished with a 70-yard margin, made the grind in 34 minutes 21.3-5 seconds.

Jack Harrison, Vancouver's flying cop, carried off the 220-yard event, hitting the tape five yards ahead of Martin Naylor of Powell River, B.C. His time was 22.5.

In the 440 Jack Fraser of Vancouver beat Jack Orr, entered from Vancouver, in a time of 50.4-10.

Finest in Cattle, Horses, Sheep and Swine Taking Part in Victoria Exhibition

In full swing after the ceremonial opening on Saturday, Victoria's fall fair continued to attract a wide section of the local public as well as visitors today as a multitude of displays and varied entertainment features provided educational and amusement values for those who passed through the gates.

Judging, which opened Saturday, continued today as the experts reviewed major sections.

Apart from the usual excellent displays in the commercial and other buildings, where local and outside firms displayed modern developments and new achievements in business and industry, the agricultural and particularly the livestock sections, attracted wide attention.

In the Main Building, where horticultural beauties and the less decorative but still colorful garden, orchard and field crop produce was on view, the district exhibits claimed high praise.

After their visits to the various buildings, those interested in animals thronged to the barns and pens where cattle, horses, sheep and swine, were stationed.

In all, 302 sheep and 106 swine were entered in the fair this year, vying in numbers with the excellent cattle which have proved centres of interest in the past.

The animals have come from all parts of British Columbia and prairie points as far east as Winnipeg as well as from the States immediately bordering British Columbia.

A complete list of exhibitors in the various livestock classes, un-

SEE ALL SIX AT THE EXHIBITION!

If you have a cooking or heating problem . . . meet us at the exhibition and we will demonstrate six brand new ideas that will give you an entirely new conception of range, furnace or heater efficiency. Read the details below, then ask especially to be shown the one that interests you.

1 The New Burbank "Lifetime" Range

It is entirely new—quite different to any range now made. It is the range of tomorrow! It is the only range in existence with double-swing oven doors, supplemented with exclusive sliding oven operating on Tinklen Roller Bearings. When the oven doors are opened the oven slides out to give easy access to the cooking food. Oven construction is the finest ever built into a coal and wood range. Five of the six sides are fully exposed to heat circulation, yet construction is such that perfectly uniform heat is maintained in each part of the oven and food is cooked thoroughly and evenly. Flue clean-out is the largest ever provided and is equipped with large steel scoop. Cabinet base to range is completely new. No sweeping under range, and cook can work close without knocking feet. Each leg fitted with leveling device. Large utility drawer. Bottom flue has adjustable baffle, permitting adjustment of heat travel to chimney.

CAREFUL BAKING TESTS PROVE THAT THE BURBANK "LIFETIME" RANGE WILL BAKE ON ONE-THIRD TO ONE-HALF LESS FUEL THAN ANY OTHER COAL OR WOOD RANGE

Other Burbank Ranges; 21 models to choose from.
Prices $43.50 to $138.50

2 THE NEW "AEROFLAME" GAS-BURNING SAWDUST UNIT

Something entirely new in both appearance and method of combustion, because while it burns sawdust for fuel it is actually a gas burner. Burns hot gases which are generated by the introduction of air into the combustion chamber. Models for range, heater or furnace, each offering maximum economy, because they burn the world's cheapest fuel. "Aeroflame" Range Burner, plus small charge for installation . . . $42.50
"Aeroflame" Furnace Burner, installed . . . $59.50

3 QUAKER Burnoil Heaters

First to catch your eye is its graceful beauty, because its designer has lifted it out of the stove class into the realm of beautiful furniture. Its luxurious warmth and surprising economy will also please you. Equipped with the new "Quaker Oil Miser." Prices, $52.50 to $149.25

4 COLEMAN OIL-BURNING HEATERS

Circulates a tremendous volume of heated air . . . warms the floor and reaches into every corner. It is surprisingly economical, too, because it burns the inexpensive No. 1 furnace oil. No bother with coal or wood. No dirt, ashes or dust. Turning one valve regulates heat as desired. Prices, $81.50 to $145.25

5 "IOLANTHE" KEROSENE RADIATORS

For the sitting-room, hall, bedroom, summer cottage, on the boat or in the trailer . . . wherever comforting warmth is required. Works automatically and DOES NOT REQUIRE PUMPING. NO WICKS. Give maximum heat for minimum cost. Burns 20 to 24 hours on one gallon of kerosene. $29.50

6 NEW "AETNA" RANGE OIL BURNERS

"Aetna" Burner Bases are so constructed that they will burn Diesel (the cheapest oil) with almost efficiency. "Centre Feed" enabling an even distribution of heat and makes cleaning easier. Simple to operate. $44.50
Completely installed . . . $44.50
Copper Coil, ensuring full supply of hot water, $7.50

KERRY BLUE BEST IN SHOW

Mrs. Gladys Peers, Vancouver, Takes Top Honors; Entries Total 139

Kil-Barney, a Kerry Blue terrier, owned by Mrs. Gladys Peers, Vancouver, was selected from a near-record field of 139 dogs as the best in the show, and carried off the major honors in the jubilee all-breed championship event staged by the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association on Saturday in the Crystal Garden.

The show had entries from points as far south as Los Angeles and as far east as Medicine Hat and including many Vancouver Island entrants.

G. Tyson's Scotch wire-haired terrier, Barovian Masterpiece, was awarded honors as the best Canadian-bred dog in the show, while the best opposite was Jonathan Davies's Welsh Corgi, The Girl Pat, of Vancouver.

Lieut.-Gov. E. W. Hamber's sterling silver trophy, presented to the best sporting dog in the show, went to Strathgogie Red Mac, an Irish setter, owned by Jack Forbes, Vancouver. Forbes received a replica of the trophy. The original must be won three times to become the permanent property of the winner.

BEST CANADIAN PUP

The best Canadian-bred puppy laurels were captured by Mrs. E. Bradley's toy Pomeranian, Mingy Poosa, while two other Vancouver entries were triumphant in the best terrier puppy and best working puppy divisions, Hampton Judy, owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hatley, winning the former and Glencarron Celebrity, owned by James Galloway, capturing the latter.

Top honors in the non-sporting class were won by the American champion Roulette of Fair Acres, a standard poodle, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coleman, Santa Barbara. Mrs. Zora Smith's Hao-Kon-Shia Kin was victorious in the best toy class, and the American champion Barberryhill Charlie was judged best sporting hound. Athos Nil-sen is the owner.

Sir Edward Beatty and his party visited the show during the evening, when a champions' parade and a parade of all dogs were held.

Horace Wilkinson of Vancouver, and formerly of England, judged all breeds.

Loss of a $50 pearl necklace on September 2, when she was moving into a local hotel, was reported to the city police yesterday by Mrs. H. C. Rogers.

Offices were ransacked and $7 was stolen by thieves who entered the office of Dr. R. A. Hunter, in the Belmont Building, over the weekend-end, according to a city police report.

Reappointment of John Ridington, U.B.C. librarian, to the provincial library commission for a three-year term from September 1, was announced at the Legislative Buildings today.

James Bay Parent-Teacher Association will meet tomorrow night at 8 in the South Park School, when all members and friends as well as parents of new pupils will be welcomed.

Regulations governing barber shops, colleges and schools in British Columbia were amended by government order today. The main purpose of the changes was to enforce hygienic necessities by rewording certain sections of the regulations.

The Victoria Little Theatre Association will hold its first meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 at the clubrooms, 1249 Rockland Avenue. An interesting programme has been arranged, and prospective members are invited to attend. Anyone wishing information about the club, is asked to telephone the secretary, Miss Mae Murray, E 3749.

Suffering from cuts on the forearm and a severed artery, Leonard R. Luxton, 21, was in the Jubilee Hospital today as the result of an accident on Yates Street, between Blandford and Quadra Streets, yesterday evening. According to a city police report, Luxton was riding a bicycle when he collided with a car driven by Lum Tang, 846 Yates Street, who was backing out from the curb. Luxton's arm went through the rear window of the car.

Mr. Duchemin and Mr. Livesay came to the coast to attend a meeting of western editors in Vancouver last Friday.

SAYS NO WAR PRECONCEIVED

"I don't think any power intends to bring the European conflict to a break, but danger lies in the fact that the governments may not be sufficiently alert to come to agreement at the most advantageous time, and find themselves in a situation where war is inevitable," said Hans Simons, professor of political science in the graduate faculty of the New School for Social Research, New York, this morning. Prof. Simons is in Victoria to address the local branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

In such a situation, he said, dictatorships were much more flexible than democracies, and as the economic and militaristic interests were on the side of the Spanish defenders, the dictators might find it necessary to change their course quickly if a crisis arose.

The League of Nations, Prof. Simons thought, had not outlived its usefulness. Great Britain, France, Russia and the Little Entente were still clinging to it as their source of security, and it might yet stabilize the international foundations of the world. At present, however, it was most advantageous for the League to avoid entanglements which it could not hope to solve, and to remain temporarily out of the public eye. In the future it could act more as a balance in the field of world affairs, and better less with the hundreds of minor European grievances.

The League would almost certainly be revived after the current conflict, Prof. Simons said. Even now it was building up an unprepared foundation on which it was superimposed after the Great War.

Negotiations For Canada-Australia Service Continue, Says Beatty

The construction of new tonnage for Canadian Pacific services on the Pacific Ocean is being delayed by rising construction costs, Sir Edward Beatty, president of the C.P.R., said in an interview with The Times today. "Negotiations relating to the Canadian-Australasian service are still in progress in England," said Sir Edward. "Conferences are continuing between the representatives of the steamship company and the governments concerned looking to the settlement of a number of details."

"However, the Admiralty programme has had the effect of causing costs to rise, and the estimates of the new vessels far exceed the figure computed in June, 1936, and even that arrived at in June of this year. If there is further delay this factor can bear the chief onus for it."

"These increased costs are naturally a deterrent to any plans for the replacement of the Empress of Asia and the Empress of Russia—at least for the time being. Fortunately both ships are quite capable of carrying on their services with ordinary maintenance expenses. Needless to say there will also be little, if any, new tonnage for our coastal fleet until construction costs are lower."

PLANNED IMMIGRATION

Sir Edward reaffirmed his belief in planned immigration during the interview. "I believe that immigration should be resumed in easy and planned stages. No wholesale or unorganized movement should be allowed at the present time, but Canada is quite capable now of absorbing an orderly flow of selected settlers coming to this country under proper regulations."

Asked whether he considered drought on certain sections of the Canadian prairies had to be regarded as a permanent problem, and if so in what manner it should be approached, Sir Edward replied:

"Measures for the rehabilitation of the drought areas should certainly be prosecuted vigorously, but abandonment of the territory affected is unthinkable. "Whatever our individual convictions may be about the question of relief, no fair-minded citizen can dispute the need for generous treatment of the settlers of the dried-out lands of the prairies."

Questioned on his impressions of the convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Vancouver, which he attended before coming to Victoria on Saturday, Sir Edward commented:

"Three achievements of the convention strike me as of paramount importance—the resolution pertaining to transportation, which strongly urged upon the government some definite action to relieve the people of the country of the heavy burden which the present situation imposes on them; the determination of the chamber to play an active part in shaping of policies respecting our agricultural economy, and the brief for a more equitable distribution of taxation so that its incidence will be more apparent to our citizens."

"In general terms the value of such an assembly rests on the opportunity which is afforded the business men of the country to record the results of their realistic grappling with the problems facing us. Not only are these matters honestly and frankly discussed, but the sentiment of business is determined and the course of action plotted accordingly."

Aviation had a place of its own in the commercial transportation picture, said Sir Edward. "It cannot be gainsaid that aviation has a permanent and useful place in the transportation field," Sir Edward said. "Naturally it performs services which fell to the lot of the railways before commercial aviation became an accomplished fact. In that sense it is a competitor—but in that sense only, because so long as it confines its operations to its now accepted province, it will strictly complement the functions of the railway and not be in direct competition. Co-ordination of all forms of transportation will ensure this."

Sir Edward announced no major changes of policy on the part of the Canadian Pacific. "This company is prosecuting the programme which was announced some time ago of building new rolling stock and motive power, which will include lightweight, semi-streamlined passenger equipment and locomotives. The air-conditioning of our regular passenger units is continuing," he said.

"No change of policy is contemplated in the matter of freight rates," he announced.

Twenty-seven Cases on List For Higher Tribunal

With 27 appeals listed for argument the British Columbia Court of Appeal will open at the Court-house here tomorrow morning at 11.

The list includes 22 criminal cases of which seven will be taken personally by the appellants, and five civil cases.

The other local appeals on the list are being taken by John Hyzka against a six months' sentence for retaining stolen goods, and by James Atkinson against a three months' term for assault.

Carew Martin is acting for the crown in the seven criminal cases where appellants are taking their appeals personally.

The majority of the cases set down for hearing originated in Vancouver.

Among the civil appeals is one taken by North Vancouver City against a judgment granted to the survivors of P. Whitehead, who died when his car ran over the ferry slip there.

Ward Two Executive, Victoria Liberal Association, will meet at Liberal Headquarters Tuesday evening at 8.

CLUBMEN WIN CITY LAURELS

Hollywood Club Beats Bruins in Deciding Tussle of Softball Series

Hollywood Club B softballers accomplished their toughest assignment of the season yesterday when they came through with the odd victory in the best-of-three series over Painter's Bruins, island senior A. title-holders, to capture the city softball championship.

The morning duel at Bullen Park saw Bruins waltz through with a 10 to 3 triumph over the clubmen to even up the series at one win apiece, Hollywood Club having shutout the fuelmen, 6 to 0, in the opening skirmish.

In the deciding tussle played in the afternoon the B division club, largely through costly boots on the part of the Bruins, pulled out with a 6 to 3 decision, which gave them the laurels.

Painter's Bruins took an early lead in the forenoon tussle and stayed out in front for the remainder of the match, finishing with a handsome margin over their opponents. Like the earlier exhibition, Bruins forged to the front early in the second game, but bumped into trouble in the fourth inning, when the clubmen, through four successive walks by Hurler Bert Simpson and two errors, called a trio of runs to clinch the score at 3 to 3.

WIN ON ERRORS
Hollywood Club added another run in the sixth to assume the lead and circuit knocks by Farey in the seventh and Barber in the following frame, with no men on the sacks, gave the clubmen two more markers to clinch the tussle. Hollywood Club lads only got three hits during the game, but were aided by the six errors chalked against the Bruins, who although securing nine safeties, were only able to make them good for three runs.

Score by innings:
First game—
Bruins 10 2 0 0 2 0 3—10
Hollywood 0 0 0 1 0 2 0 0—3

Batteries—Glendenning and Berry; Price and Farey.

Second game—
Hollywood 0 0 0 0 3 1 1 1—6

Batteries—Simpson, Glendenning and Berry; Johnson and Farey.

The nightcap 2 to 1 from Ray Phebus with the help of Joe Di Maggio's 42nd homer.

Bob Weiland's five-hit, 2 to 0 win in the nightcap, enabled the Cardinals to break even with Cincinnati, after the Reds took the first game 10 to 7.

The Phillies and Dodgers split, Brooklyn taking the second game 9 to 5 on a homer with the bases loaded by Eddie Wilson, after the Phils outlasted them for a 4 to 3 ten-inning win in the opener.

An eight-run ninth-inning gave the Red Sox a 13 to 6 edge over the Athletics. The "always-good-at-home" Cleveland Indians showed the home folks a pair of winning performances over the Browns, 6 to 3 and 6 to 1, the latter giving Johnny Allen his 11th straight win, with a four-hitter.

COAST LEAGUE
Sacramento's Senators appeared "in" today as they paced the Pacific Coast Baseball League by five games with one week of competition left before the playoffs.

They shared a double-header with Portland yesterday, dropping the opener 7 to 2, but Tony Freitas' one-hit pitching in the nightcap gave the leaders a 2 to 0 shutout.

San Diego, which up to a fortnight ago led the league before losing seven in a row to skid into second place, divided a brace of games with Los Angeles. The Angels took the opener 5 to 2, but the Padres pounded the ball hard in the second game to take on 8 to 3 decision.

Base hits flew in all directions as Oakland and Seattle shared a pair. Although outting 15 to 11, Seattle won the 10-inning opener 6 to 5 with two singles and a long fly to centerfield. In the nightcap the Oaks pounced on the offerings of three Seattle pitchers for a 11 to 9 win.

San Francisco's Seals, pushed into third place Saturday when they lost two to the San Fran-ning their nags here. Like other businesses the prospects are for a change to the better this year.

The racing association has guaranteed that purses will be no smaller than last year, namely, $200 to the winner of handicaps and $135 for claiming events.

What is more, if the handle through the mutual machines increases, 5 per cent of the increase will go into the purses. The association gets a 7 per cent cut on the mutual handle so this arrangement will hand on 5-7ths of any increase to the horsemen. If the betting follows the upward trend shown in Vancouver this season the owners are bound to get more.

The new arrangement has encouraged a lot more horsemen to come to Victoria this year for the "Indian summer" meeting. The opening day's card was about as good as any staged in the last week at Hastings Park in Vancouver which set a new record for crowds.

The racing conditions call for handicaps most every day during the two weeks. While they cannot be expected to fill each time, it can be expected that some of the higher class racers will go to the post almost daily.

FINE PICTURE AT THE PLAZA

"The Pace That Kills." Opening Today, Has Moral For Young People

Why girls and boys take the wrong road in life is depicted in a frank and straightforward manner in "The Pace That Kills," which opened at the Plaza Theatre today. With such a title and subject, one might expect a tawdry and sensational photoplay. Audiences are pleasantly surprised that the subject of delinquency among juveniles, while honestly treated, has few of the usual flamboyant touches common to movies of this type. There is a moral of course, which parents can take as well as the young people.

Lois January and Noel Madison have the leading roles of Jane Bradford, the innocent victim of the dealer in drugs, and Nick Provas, dope peddler, whose chief customers are children of high school age. Sheila Mannors, Lois Lindsay and Dean Benton in the leading supporting roles, turn in unaffected and wholly natural performances.

Splendid Cast in Picture Which Portrays Activities of Lawless Band

The films write a page of current history in "Black Legion," a thrilling melodrama produced by Warner Bros., and now at the Oak Bay Theatre.

Recently, in Michigan, a band of masked and hooded men took the law in their own hands and killed their chosen enemies without semblance of justice or mercy.

As a picture of an actual phase of America's complicated social struggle, "Black Legion" is said to be unusually interesting and possessed of greater dramatic force than any previous movie "from the headlines."

Dick Foran, Erin O'Brien Moore, Helen Flint, Ann Sheridan, Joseph Sawyer and other well-known players are among the principals.

One of the finest boxing matches to be filmed are the pictures of Joe Louis and Tommy Farr in heavyweight title match a few weeks ago. This attraction is continuing to draw large crowds today after a week's successful run at the Plaza Theatre.

The other features on the same programme are "Sins of Children," from the popular novel, "In His Steps," starring Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker, and a stirring story of the sea, "Killers of the Sea."

REQUESTS OF LABOR HEARD

Trades Congress of Canada
Considers Its Executive's
Report at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The 53rd annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today received from its executive a report urging efforts to end alleged discrimination in Canada against union workers, opposing change in laws that would ease restrictions against immigration or curtail free passage across this country's borders of international labor union officials.

In the report the executive, headed by President P. M. Draper, of Ottawa, reiterated its request for compulsory holidays with pay for all workers, its opposition to any compulsory incorporation of unions, its stand in favor of amendments to the British North America Act, opposition to war as a means of settling international disputes and opposition to conscription for military or industrial purposes.

OPPOSE INJUNCTIONS
The executive denounced as dangerous "to the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" issue by courts of "a number of sweeping and severe injunctions against labor unions engaged in legitimate struggles to maintain and improve living standards."

Modern and "extensive use of the writ of injunction, especially in labor disputes, is revolutionary and destructive," the report said, adding injunctions were extremely costly and "are a most convenient way for employers to deplete the treasury of labor unions and make them impotent."

It continued:
"As a remedy for the evil of injunctions, your executive council recommends that a model act should be prepared, following the lines of the English Trades Disputes Act of 1906 and the various statutes of the United States dealing with the subject, setting forth exactly what trade unions may be permitted to do in connection with trade disputes, and with a provision that the process of injunction should not be permitted by the courts in such cases, and that this model act be presented to the various provincial governments with a request that it be enacted at the next session of their respective legislatures."

QUEBEC POSITION
The report took cognizance of a "challenge" in Quebec to maintenance of the closed shop, quoting from a recent pronouncement of Premier Duplessis that "workers have the right to organize, but we will not permit the establishment of the closed shop in this province."

"This new challenge to the trade union movement, promulgated by the Quebec provincial government," said the report, "will be met as were its predecessors."

IMMIGRATION QUESTION
Without mentioning any organization, the report declared: "Evidence is accumulating that well-organized financial and economic interests, both in Canada and abroad, are now active in an endeavor to have existing immigration restrictions and regulations either repealed or amended."

With unemployment still a major problem, the report said, the council believed no steps should be taken to admit more immigrants.

CONSTITUTION CHANGES
The report restated the position of the Congress regarding the constitution, calling for amendments to foster national unity by giving the Dominion Government greater powers to deal with social and labor legislation, abolish appeals to the Privy Council in London and make the Supreme Court of Canada the highest court of appeal.

The report expressed the belief youth training such as was inaugurated by the Dominion Government through an appropriation last year of $2,000,000 should be continued, but cautioned:

"This Congress... is unalterably opposed to child labor."

EGYPTIAN CORONATION

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt's new ruler, King Farouk, will be crowned February 11, 1938—his 18th birthday, under the Occidental calendar. The young King was invested as ruler on July 29—his 18th birthday under the Moslem calendar.

Market Leaders Crash On Wall Street Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market leaders crashed into new low territory for two years or longer today after an opening rally inspired by action of the government in withdrawing $300,000,000 in sterilized gold to lighten credit needs.

At the worst prices tumbled 1 to 7 points. There were a few losses of as much as 13 or so. In the feverish gyrations of the list, the ticker tape frequently lagged, at one time being behind about five minutes.

Some support appeared in the final hour, with a number of pivotal stocks cutting sizeable portions from their extreme declines. Many, however, dragged bottom when the closing gong sounded.

Brokers reported liquidation and short selling from many quarters.

Transfers were in the neighborhood of 2,600,000 shares. Government bonds were mildly responsive to the gold shift and the decision of the authorities to purchase short-term treasury paper on the open market if necessary. Corporation loans dipped after an initial upturn.
